

Davey Moore Stops Bassey In 11th Round On TKO

MOORE DEFEATS BASSEY — Hogan "Kid" Bassey (right), of Nigeria, throws a hard right at world featherweight champion Davey Moore in the third round of their title fight August 19th. Moore was awarded a knockout when Bassey failed to answer the bell for the 11th round after taking a battering from Moore in the 10th. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Featherweight Title Will Stay In America

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — The world featherweight title remained in America where it was restored early this year, when crowd-pleasing Davey Moore of Springfield, O., stopped Hogan (Kid) Bassey on a TKO in the 11th round in his first defense in Olympic auditorium last Wednesday night. The bout had been scheduled for 15 rounds.

It was the second time in six months that Moore had beaten Bassey, who hails from Lagos, Nigeria. Last March 18, Moore out-punched Bassey to score a 13th round TKO and win the title. In that fight, Bassey, the first native Nigerian to win a world boxing title, was the favorite.

MOORE AGGRESSOR
Last Wednesday night, Moore, dripping with confidence, carried the fight to Bassey. Hogan fought well in the early rounds, but Moore was just too quick for him. Several times, Davey beat the Kid to the punch and then kept the pressure on so Bassey couldn't retaliate.

In the fourth, he dumped Bassey with a well-timed left hook, his right foot cocking up both gloves resting on the reins. However, he regained his feet and continued the battle.

SUFFERS CUT
Throughout the fight, Moore peppered Bassey with a piston-like left jab and a jolting left hook. Sometimes the hook was delivered on top of four lightning left jabs, as Bassey tried to back away and counterpunch.

A fighter who cuts easily, Bassey suffered a badly bruised right eye and a cut left eyebrow. However, the cut did not bother him too much.

Bassey's best weapon was a right to the head. He stung Moore with it several times, but each time Davey shook off the punch and kept boring in.

In the 10th, Moore got Bassey in trouble early and went all out for a knockout. He brought his own right into play and hurt Bassey throughout the round. Bassey, meanwhile, folded his hands criss-cross before his face and tried to cover up. It was no use though, as Moore went from the head to the body and back to the head.

DURHAM LITTLE LEAGUERS — Typical of the thousands of Little Leaguers all over the country is the John Avery Boys Club team, sponsored in the Durham Midget League by Mutual Savings and Loan Association. The team finished second in Midget league tournament and in the regular season pennant race in the ten-team league. They are like countless of youth all over America whose sponsorship by community-minded business firms like Mutual Savings of Durham gives them an opportunity to play baseball. Members of the team, pictured above, are, front row, left to right, Eugene Harrington, Jr., James Saunders, Lonnie Fort, Clifton Bell and James Jones. Standing, in the same order are David Parker, coach, Becker Spaulding, Jr., Everline Rich, Johnnie Johnson, Paul Royster, Arthur Johnson, Donald Smaoke and Luther Brown.

John H. Johnson Expects Banner Year With Giants

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the series of stories on National Football League teams and their Negro players.

CHICAGO (ANP) — Both the Detroit Lions and one of its leading backs, John Henry Johnson, had disappointing years last season and both are looking for better times this year.

The other tan player on the Lions' roster who appears a cinch to stick this season, is Danny Lewis, former Wisconsin star. Somewhat of a disappointment too, last year.

Lewis hopes to establish himself in the coming season.

Rookies in the Lions' camp at Bloomfield Hills, Mich., include Jerry McFarland, former Michigan State guard, and George McGee, a big tackle from Southern University, the team's 16th draft choice last winter.

Injuries cut down the efficiency last season of Johnson who, when operating in top condition, is as good as they come. He was fourth leading rusher in the NFL in '57, his first year with the Lions, but last year, he gained only 234 yards in 56 tries, compared to 621 amassed the year before.

Youthful Mentor Is Doing Good

HAMPTON, Va. (ANP) — A brash, young coach who gambled with a new pattern of play and came up with a top fighting 11, is compiling an enviable record at Hampton Institute, ANP learned.

He is Benjamin Whaley, 33, a graduate of Hampton who is completing his third year at the Peninsula team. He took over in 1957, following the retirement of veteran coach Harry R. Jefferson, under whom Whaley once played.

Shortly after taking over the reins of the Pirates, Whaley came up with one of the most radical changes in the team's history. He shifted from the traditional single-wing to the split-T formation. He did it, he said, because the team did not have enough men up front to handle a powerful single-wing attack.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Hear Montgomery Snubbed Moore-Durrelle Title Bout

CHICAGO (ANP) — The Associated Negro Press learned from a reliable source last week that segregation-minded Montgomery, Ala., snubbed the recent Archie Moore-Yvonne Durrelle light heavyweight title match.

According to the source, there was no TV or radio broadcasts of the bout in the entire Montgomery area. It was implied that the blackout of television and radio coverage may have been due to the interracial makeup of the bout.

Moore, who retained his title by chilling Durrelle in three rounds is, of course, a Negro. His opponent from New Brunswick Province, Canada, a fighting fisherman, is white.

This is not the first time Montgomery has acted adversely to shows with interracial makeup.

Junior Leaguers Plan Organizational Growth

NEWARK, N. J. (ANP) — With the echoes of the recent 20th annual conference of the National Junior League, Inc., still ringing in their ears, chapter members throughout the country are embarking upon plans for an upsurge in organizational growth during the next 12 month period.

To achieve their goal, Junior Leaguers are faced with the task of overcoming the apathy of young women who are not interested in assuming civic responsibilities without a great amount of preaching.

The organization, founded in 1933 by Mrs. William E. King, Chicago (whose husband is a prominent attorney and former Illinois state senator), has for its purpose just such a program—that of civic responsibility.

Throughout the country, members of the organization may be found rendering volunteer service to hospitals, community centers, Parent-Teacher associations, national fund drives, Girls and Boy Scouts; Travelers Aid, YM and YWCA and a host of other agencies.

Under the theme of "Women—The Heart of the Community," members were urged to become more active on policy-making boards in their respective communities.

Jesse Owens To Be Honored At "Sports Nights"

BOSTON (ANP) — Jesse Owens, former Olympic track champion, will be honored at the seventh annual awards dinner of the Boston Sports Lodge, 8'nal Brith, Sept. 20 at the Hotel Sheraton-Plaza.

Other sports figures to be feted include Jack Dempsey, Ty Cobb, Johnny Weismuller, Bob Cousey and Don Budge.

Thirty-seven per cent of the DHIA herds in North Carolina are now enrolled in the central processing system at N. C. State College.

Bridge Ass'n Closes Banner Tourney; Daly Is Reelected

CLEVELAND, O. (ANP) — The American Bridge association closed its 26th annual national tournament Saturday at the Hollendon hotel. It was considered the largest and most successful championship tournament in the history of the organization. Nearly 200 tables were in constant play, twice daily for eight days.

Approximately 1,000 members from 28 states and 63 cities attended the record turn-out. Two hundred and fifty trophies, costing $8,000 were distributed to the first and second place winners of all events. Forty eight new Life Masters were added to the 134 previously accorded the association's highest honor.

At its final business meeting, the association re-elected Victor R. Daly, Washington, D. C., president for the 11th consecutive year. He has been credited with bringing about the acceptance of Negro bridge players by the American Contract Bridge league, ruling authority of duplicate bridge in the U. S.

In accordance with its previously established policy, the association voted $2,500 from its benefit fund for distribution to the NAA-CP Freedom Fund ($1,000); National Urban League ($1,000); and United Negro College Fund ($500).

The 1960 national championships will be held at Sheraton-Park hotel, Washington, D. C. Los Angeles will be host in 1961 and the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel, Detroit, will be the scene in 1962.

National officers elected without opposition were Irving B. Henderson, Chicago, vice-president; Kermit D. Rost, Washington, executive secretary; Mrs. Ruth H. Mosley, Macon, Ga., treasurer; and Mrs. Christine P. Jones, Washington, assistant secretary. Dr. P. W. Good, Mobile, Ala., is chairman of the eight-man executive board.

At tackle he is talent-laden with five behemoths, all with game experience, captain Luther Jerperence. Leading this crew are last aids, 235, and James "Champ" Brewington, an all-conference choice at 275. A shade behind this pair are Charles "Bobo" Hinton, 245, Frank Gardner, injured most of last season, is also back, and at a solid 268, he is a challenge at this spot.

1960 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE
Sept. 19, Morris Brown College, Durham; Sept. 26, Allen University, Columbia, S. C.; Oct. 3, Morgan State College, Durham; Oct. 10, St. Augustine's College, Raleigh; Oct. 17, Virginia State College, Durham; Oct. 24, Maryland State College, Princess Anne, Md.; Oct. 31, Shaw University, Durham; (homecomings, Nov. 7, Open Date, Nov. 14, Benedict College, Durham; Nov. 20, North Carolina A&T, at Greensboro; (Thanksgiving's Carolina Classic).

Why do show people drool so much complimentary slush about each other in introductions?

Balanced judgment is something one finds in few people.

NCC Coach Says He'll Field A Classy Line

DURHAM—North Carolina College's head football coach, Herman H. Riddick, expects some fifty-five candidates to show up when he issues his first call for fall drills on September 1. Bolstered by the return of 20 lettermen from last year's 6th ranked nationally outfit, along with a favored home state with five of their nine lifts on O'Kelly Field, the grid Eagles promise to be in the thick of the fight for CIAA laurels again this year.

Riddick, entering his fifteenth season as the mentor of the Eagles' grid fortunes, has a nucleus of a good team, but lacks solid depth. His primary concern at the beginning of grid practice will be to find a good quarterback replacement to go behind his no. 1 signal-caller, Reggie Pryor, and to find three top flight halfbacks with lots of speed and shiftness.

The Eagle coaches have about three weeks to mold the Eagles' forces before facing NCC's first grid opponent here in Durham on September 19 when Morris Brown College comes here. The Purple Wolverines of Atlanta, Ga. trounced the Eagles last season 24-6.

As usual at this time of the year when all college coaches have out the crying towels, Riddick expressed great concern over his team's chances. "We could have a good team this year if some of our first year players come through for us to give us some depth," said the cautious Eagle mentor.

Though Riddick calls his line only adequate, it is known that he has, perhaps, the most promising line in the CIAA this season, and one of the most mobile in the school's history.

At the terminal position he is blessed with the return of All-CIAA George Wallace, who snarled 17 passes last season, and Paul Winslow, second leading receiver on the club with 11 receptions to his credit. There are also two other monogram winners at this spot in Vernon Hatch and James Chambers, as well as the presence of Clark Witherspoon, regarded as a

PAN-AM ROUNDUP

BY CHARLES J. LIVINGSTONE FOR ANP

The Pan American Games will open in Chicago Thursday (Aug. 27), but already the city is buzzing with activities.

Day by day, athletes from the 60-odd nations of the Western Hemisphere who will participate in the "Little World Series" are streaming into the city. Clubs, fraternities and other social organizations are sponsoring events for the visitors; and hotels and other business houses have hung out the welcome mat.

At Pan Am Village on the University of Chicago campus, a task force, including cooks, bakers and other volunteer workers, is at work serving the athletes. This is no simple task, as the athletes speak several tongues and their habits are just as diversified.

The village itself has been named "Little United Nations" because of its international makeup. It is unanimously agreed, however, that more good will and understanding is on display here than at Lake Success. Here at the Village, everyone wants to shake hands and be friends.

WEST INDIANS, LATINIS

POPULAR

Incidentally, Negroes who have not had the opportunity to travel abroad, are getting a chance to observe the contrast in culture which these athletes have brought with them. They have easy access to the Village, because the University of Chicago is located on the south-side, in an area heavily populated by Americans of several nationalities and racial strains. Negroes predominate.

Perhaps because several of them have friends and countrymen living here, athletes from the West Indies (including Haiti), Mexico and other Latin countries are the most popular in the village. They are constantly befriended and banqueted in the homes of Chicagoans.

UNCLE SAM WELLS

REPRESENTED
No less popular are the athletes who will represent the United States in the games. Among those seen at the Village are Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, who are expected to spark the U. S. basketball team. The two famous athletes were in good spirits and said they are raring to go.

Also in town was Ed Hurt, head coach at Morgan State college who is the lone Negro member of a four-man team of track coaches. He will handle U. S. hurdlers in the games. B. T. Harvey, commissioner, Southern Intercollegiate Athletic conference, also breezed into town and hurried with Col. Jack Reilly, executive director of the games, early in the week.

In the United States there is one Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and 160 million assistant strategists.

It Pays To ADVERTISE

CLIP & SAVE 525252525

TIRE SPECIAL

670x15 Plus Tax & Recappable 11.98

Installed Free

MAC'S ESSO SERVICENTER

1200 New Bern Ave. Tele. TE 2-8302 Raleigh

CLIP & SAVE 525252525

Move Up To Quality

Move Up To Schlitz.

KNOCKDOWN — Nigeria's Hogan "Kid" Bassey hits the canvas after a stunning attack by featherweight champion Davey Moore in the fourth round of their title bout August 19th. Moore was awarded a knockout after Bassey failed to answer the bell for the 11th round. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

CENTURY CLUB

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

245 Pint $3.85 4-5 QT.

NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS COMPANY, NEW YORK • 26 PROOF