

Washington Terrace Kids Keeping Cool

BY GLEN MITCHELL
Just imagine how hot it can become on one of those days when the mercury zooms to a torturable ninety degrees and continues to move up

In fact, you don't have to imagine at all: today is a practical enough example of the scorching days experienced nowadays.

You think of the swimming pool, the lake, the sea, and even your bath tub in the unbearably hot house. But that's all that most Raleigh folk can do—think about the cool spots and wish.

Not so with the Washington Terrace kids... They've found a way to live with the heat and be happy with it. They don't have to go to lakes, or swimming pools, or beaches, or get all cloistered in a tiny bath tub in a small bath room. No. They have the swimming pools and lakes brought to them.

How? Simple. No means of transportation needed, not many at any rate. The source of coolness, the fire hydrant, is already there in the midst of them. All they do need is a man to loosen a bolt and attach a spray hose, and there, right in the open, public street is a swimming pool—or a lake, if you please—begins to take form.

The man and the hose are supplied by the Raleigh Recreation Department.

So, see what happens in the daytime while you keep tugging at that button at the neck of your shirt or blouse.

These scenes were recorded for you to see.

Wouldn't you like to be a kid, if for no other reason, just to be able to live with the heat and like it? (STAFF PHOTOS BY GLEN MITCHELL)

Miss A&T Weds:

Campus Romance Leads To Marriage Of Miss Felicia Black, Wilbert Greenfield

GREENSBORO—A campus romance begun at A&T College three years ago was climaxed with wedding ceremonies here at the St. Matthews Methodist Church on last Saturday afternoon, August 12.

The principals, Miss Felicia Black, Greensboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of Martin Street and Wilbert Greenfield, Seven Springs, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Greenfield of that town, were united in matrimony in nuptials conducted by The Reverend J. E. Brower, pastor of the church.

Bennett's Modern Chemistry Course To Be On Television

GREENSBORO—Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom course in Modern Chemistry to be telecast during the 1953-54 academic year over the NBC network.

The 140 lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 a.m. over Station WGJS.

In announcing participation by explained that the course is designed primarily for high school science teachers. "Others interested in obtaining a better understanding of recent developments in chemistry who are eligible to enroll for credit may do so," she pointed out. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

Modern Chemistry is the second college-level TV course for credit to be offered on a network basis. Last year the Continental Classroom offering was Atomic Age Physics. The viewing audience, comprised of over 400,000 persons, included approximately 15,000 teachers. This course, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, vice-chairman of the physics department at the University of California, Berkeley, will be re-run over the network from 6 to 6:30 a.m. local time.

New York Rites:

Miss McNeill, C. T. Knight Are Married

Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McNeill of Clayton, became the bride of Clarence T. Knight recently.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Mother A.M.E. Zion Church by the Rev. Joseph Maxwell, New York City.

Mr. McNeill gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white silk organza, designed in princess style, with pearls and sequins. Her veil of tulle was attached to a matching head piece and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and orchids.

Miss Edith McNeill, sister of the bride was maid of honor and the Misses Marion Knight, sister of the bridegroom, and Barbara Hockaday, cousin of the bride were the other attendants. They wore street length dresses of pink silk organza with matching head pieces, mits and shoes. The mother of the bride wore a blue lace dress with matching hat and gloves, white bag and shoes.

The best man was Ralph Murray.

Mrs. Knight is a 1953 graduate of Shaw University, Raleigh. She received her M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University of New York City in 1952. The bridegroom attended A&T College in Greensboro.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Club LaChose, New York City.

For the wedding, Miss Black wore a floor length bridal gown of lace and tulle. The crown had a chantly lace, pointed basque with long Calla point sleeves and a modified scalloped Sabrina neckline, scattered with iridescent sequins. The full bouffant skirt was encircled by bands of lace.

Shaw Univ.'s Orientation Opens Thurs.

The orientation program at Shaw University will begin on Thursday, Sept. 10, and will be directed by Dr. Marguerite M. Adams, University Counselor. A psychological examination and a test in English will be given to all new students. University officials will lecture to the newcomers on the procedures and facilities of the institution.

Morris College Curriculum Told

SUMMER 5, C.—The Self-Study Curriculum of Morris College announced that an all college faculty Institute on September 7-9, will highlight the opening activities for the ensuing fall term.

The faculty conference will feature Dr. George W. Hopkins, Director of the Division of Teacher Education and Certification of the State Department of Education, who will serve as major consultant for the two day in-service training period.

Other consultants slated to serve are: Dr. Orin Graff, of the University of Tennessee, who will give the theoretical functions of a small Liberal Arts college with some inference to organization and administration; Mrs. Helen F. Kennedy, Jeanes Teacher of Montgomery, Alabama, and Mr. Leroy Anderson, Principal of the Meggett School in Charleston County, who will also serve as consultants in giving their point of view as to what they expect the college to do in preparing teachers which they employ. Both Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. Anderson were recipients of Southern Education Foundation Grants for additional study in their respective fields.

Belated judgment is something one finds in few people.
