theme this year. A gala weekend is being planned Oct. 23-24 for the thousands of returning Alumni and students with activities ranging from the coronation of the queen, a football game with Virginia State College, a bonfire, a parade featuring 10 floats, four bands and the R.O.T.C. Battle group and climaxed by a dance in the C. H. Williams gym.

Reigning over the weekend activities will be Miss Angela Archer, senior, from Roanoke, Va., and her court consisting of Miss Janie Pinckney, Augusta, Ga., Miss Patricia Griffin, Milford, Conn., Miss Roberta Ham. Sumter, S. C., and Miss Charmaine Marks, Miami, Fla.

The festivities will get underway Friday evening with a program providing an opportunity for the students to pay homage to their queen. Gifts will be presented by representatives of student organizations after she has been crowned by football Captain Tom Robinson. A pep rally and bonfire following the coronation will whip up enthusiasm for the football game on Saturday.

The Saturday morning parade which will feature ten floats, four band's high stepping majorettes, and the R.O.T.C. Battle Group, will parade through the business section of Hampton before returning to the campus.

Pre-game activities starting at 1:30 p. m. will feature the reviewing of the floats and the R.O.T.C. Battle Group by the queen and her court before the gridiron clash between the Virginia State Trojans and the Fighting Pirates.

Featuring a rivalry now in its 43rd year, with the Pirates on the short end of a 15-24-3 record, the game promises to be a hard fought contest. Half-time activities will include the presentation of the queen to Dr. William H. Martin, acting president of the college, the introduction of members of the 1913 football team and a performance by the Pershing Rifles, the majorettes and the Hampton Institute Band.

Mrs. Vera M. Deans Sums Up Views After African Visit

BY SAMUEL P. FERRY, JR. NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Vera Michele Dean, editor of the highly influential "Foreign Policy Reports", has just returned from Africa under a grant from the Carnegie Corporation to the University of Rochester (N. Y.) for her Non-Western Civilizations Programs at the university.

In a special article, "Africa's Hour of Decision," which will be read by diplomats concerned with African developments, Mrs. Dean emphasizes the important timetable for African independence.

"In the north, east, and south," she asserts, "Where the climate favored European immigration, and the returns on investment in agriculture and or the extraction of raw materials—copper, gold, uranium—brought rich rewards, Westerners are still struggling to keep time back: by armed force in Algeria, by repression in the Rhodesias, by harsh segregation in South Africa, and by delaying policies based on a variety of motives in East Africa."

"Yet, everywhere European men and women who have the courage to face realities are aware that sooner or later, in one form or another, political independence is the goal Africans seek and will achieve."

Although Mrs. Dean is not familiar with concrete evidences of African cultural heritages, she makes an honest effort to puncture the bubble of "western rationalizations" about the African continent and its myriad economic, political, and social problems.
