Three fire trucks rushed to the scene of the blaze, which seemed to be mostly confined to the upstairs of the residence. All electricity in the home was disconnected. Mr. Mitchell is a retired barber here

The extent of damage, although quite a bit of water was used, could not be determined at press time.

An exploding small oil stove at the rear of the home caused the blaze.

Kills Dad-In-Law

CARTHAGE-Moore County officers charged a 42-year-old man Saturday night with murder after his father-in-law died of pistol wounds in his head, shoulder and hip.

Jesse Smith was quoted by officers as saying the shooting in which Charles Berry, 79, was killed occurred during an argument in a wooded area near Smith's home Friday night.

Smith said his father-in-law fired a shetgun at him and he returned fire with his pistol.
