WHICH GOD ARE YOU

SERVING??? ROCKY MOUNT- We listened Sunday to a penetrating radio sermon by Rev. George F. Wallenburg, of Canada, who asked: "Which God Are You Trusting in?" In the sermon he used the theme: "To Dust Thou Returneth." The speaker graphicly related how present day parents have not only neglected to serve the true God, but have likewise failed to teach or direct their offspring toward a wholesome regard for the church and religious training as many press for the exclusion of Biblical teachings from the public schools and the home and society. The minister reminded that whatever and whoever an individual seeks to worship, inevitably becomes his or her god. He urged worship of the TRUE GOD to the uni-

During these crucial times 'which try men's souls' there appears to be disruptions of all kind coming from many sides to divide our citizens of all races at a time when we need the greatest of unity and understanding among all Americans of all colors.

Because the true integration of public schools has not been achieved, the plan of increased busing of pupils was contrived and put into action to get our youths to fellowship more with each other, regardless of race or color, in an allout effort to SAVE America from her segregated self, particularly in Dixie.

As in most previous instances, the students were about to make integration work until rabble-rousing blacks and whites of adult age, but infantacting minds, decreed otherwise. They would disrupt and destroy the attempt at true Americanism, by using many nefarious devices of stopping buses, even to burning buses and dynamiting schools.

In Nash County a gathering bent on ending or curtailing the busing program was addressed by an avowed opponent of integration and busing who told the group, reportedly, if they wanted his services he would bring in people to stop the busing as he suggested that they call on the school board chairman after midnight etc. If this was not treasonable and inflamatory talk, we wonder what is? We think "the law" would have found a way to 'charge' a Negro for such talk to a meet-

However, the Rocky Mount Chamber of Commerce again came through in expressing its support of the public school system; and was followed by a emergency group called CIPS (Confidence IN PUBLIC Schools), whose chairman is Mack B. FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF. A NEW YOUTH COUNCIL MEMBERS By SUSAN PATE

As my vehicle was whipping 'round town one Wednesday evening in early fall, the spirit suddenly inspired me to investigate the source of a lone light bulb flickering through the glass of a second-story window in that familiar superstructure known as the County Courthouse.

I later determined the exact location to be County Courtroom Number 2, where I found, to my abject distress, a number of young oddballs actually carrying on a successfully odd meeting despite my absence. I immediately breezed in, fully anticipating a scene lacking in the usual unusual antics that go on in the presence of wierd young things. To my shock, I found a truly well-unorganized room, full to overflowing with noise-all sorts of noise. A sector of my friends was there, generally interrupting each other at every turn. Some poor fellow, as yet unknown to me, was resignedly slugging away at "the bench" with his anvil, in an attempt to maintain some semblance of order.

A hassled woman, kind and beaming even under stress, seemed to "supervise" hair young friends.
AHA!, I said to myself;

what a group! Now here's a place where I can be sure absolutely nothing will be accomplished. Perfectly magnificent place I've tripped onto here-bedlam reigns! However, I soon discovered things were being done in the midst of seeming chaos; committee reports were being turned in treasurer's reports given, projects being suggested or evaluated, and last but not least, conventions the apple of all of our eyes were being planned.

After coming out of my initial daze, I realized that I had been assigned to an Urban Redevelopment Committee, a bake sale, and a newsletter. Thinking myself to be desperately needed, I graciously consented to donate myself, in total, to the council. And, shock of shocks, I was needed. And so are you. We need you - whoever you may be - associate members, ex officio members, voting members, or just prospective members - come help. Do something for somebody --and have an ODD time while you're at it!

gers drew the following points: Christians should know where the goal lies, The Gospel of Christ can make the journey lighter and Christ will control each and every individual, if allowed. As the minister preached so forcefully, the Holy Spirit invaded the church. Holy Communion was extended to the entire congregation. Among the visitors were Mrs. Bridges from Garner, Deacon David Perry, Elnora Lassiter, Lula Jones, Pearle Harris from Eberneezer Baptist Providence Church, R. I., Dorothy Perry. There were many other visitors from northern points, also Deacon Watkins.

Flowers were placed in the sanctuary by the Carpenter family in memory of Sister Sopronia Hedgepeth and Sister Mary Darden.

Rev. W. G. Horton, Rev. Brooksie Jiles and Dr. G. S. Stokes accompanied Rev. Bridgers to the sacred altar.
