Set Goals, Prexy Tells Frosh

Robinson Challenges Freshmen

"Set your goals in the right direction, and four years from now you will be closer to your goal. If you don't set your sails aright, you will go - but where you will go, nobody knows." This is what President Prezell R. Robinson told St. Augustine's College freshmen and new students during the banquet in their honor on August 25.

Dr. Robinson stated his basic philosophy, which includes the (See SET GOALS, P. 2)

DURHAM J. A. Carter, general chairman, of the committee on arrangements for Prince Hall Americanism Day, for the Durham area Prince Hall Masons, announced upon his arrival from the 80th annual convention of the AEAC-HMS, held in Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19-24th, that due to information received while in the Motor City, that will be used to implement the activities planned for Prince Hall Americanism Day, Sept. 9, it should be the most spectacular ever presented here.

It is to be remembered that earlier plans called for a parade that will form at the R. N. Harris School, 7:30 p.m., on that date featuring participation by all secret orders, fraternities and sororities, along with supporting organizations, to contribute funds for the N.C. State Conference of Branches, by the Jurisdiction of North Carolina Masons, more thrills and thrills will be added.

An elaborate program will be presented to the public starting at 10 p.m. at the Forest Baptist church, S. Alston Avenue. Mr. Carter says final instructions will be given to all participants in program details. Participation will be had by Dr. A. D. Mosley, pastor, Mt. HUD Eyes Cash For Elderly

National Black News Service WASHINGTON - Housing allowances, payable in cash, for the elderly poor, will be recommended to the President as a major part of a complete overhaul of the nation's housing policies. Final details of the package are still being worked out, but sources close to Housing and Urban Development Secretary James T. Lynn, say that he favors the following proposals:

Dropping the current subsidy programs for low and middle-income housing construction which have been frozen since January and giving cash allowances to poor people, starting with the elderly. Relying primarily on the present supply of housing to provide acceptable shelter for low income families rather than emphasizing new construction. Offering builders in areas where existing housing is in (See HUD EYES, P. 2)

CRIME BEAT

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat Column, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "Blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.

Oft-Criticized Cop Quits Raleigh Force

BY STAFF WRITER
The resignation of 26-year-old Robert Winfield Sneed, a white alleged racist policeman, from the local force from August 13, was announced last week by Police Chief Robert E. Goodwin. Mr. Sneed's first venture into overt and unprovoked racial violence, occurred on Sunday, July 31, 1972, in front of Wiygul-Sanders Ford, 401 Downtown Boulevard, when he apprehended CAROLINIAN managing editor, Charles R. Jones, charged Jones with carrying a concealed weapon (a .25 automatic pistol), and driving 60 miles per hour in a 45 mile zone. Jones of Camden Street, was handcuffed by Sneed, his car was taken to Price's Garage and he was generally embarrassed by this officer's action.

Mr. Jones had just exited Wade Avenue through home from the Medicenter and admitted that when he heard the siren of the police vehicle which Sneed was driving, he immediately checked his speedometer and observed that he was going 47 miles per hour. "If there was any speeding done, it was Officer Sneed doing it," Jones later reported in this newspaper. The concealed weapons rap was thrown out, but the newsman paid $10 and costs of court for the speeding charge.

Early this year, Sneed stopped Francis Jerome Poole, then a parole officer of Delany Drive, this city, and charged Mr. Poole with driving 45 miles (See COPS QUIT, P. 2)

Suspect In Death Fails To Appear

National Black News Service PHILADELPHIA - Ronald Harvey, a suspect in two Cherry Hill, N.J. murders and seven Washington, D.C. murders, failed to appear for an extradition hearing and an assistant United States attorney testified that he had "disappeared."

The attorney, Terry Russell, said that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents "lost contact" with Harvey shortly before he was indicated by a grand jury in Washington, along with six other men, on charges of murdering seven Hanafi Muslims last January. The most recent hearing had been scheduled in response to a request by New Jersey that Harvey be extradited to face charges in Camden County for the murders of Major B. Coxon and Lita Luby in Coxon's home last June. Judge Ethan A. Doty of Philadelphia's Common Pleas Court, issued a bench warrant for Harvey's arrest and ordered his $145,000 bail forfeited. Meanwhile, Harvey's lawyer told Judge Doty he (See SUSPECT IN, P. 2)

Candidates For Mayor, Council Continue To Mount In Raleigh

As the political pot continues to boil in city elections, two candidates have already announced their intention of seeking to become Raleigh's first mayor, chosen directly by the people's vote, and another is expected to make his decision known this week. The latest announced candidate at CAROLINIAN's press time was Raleigh's mayor pro-tem, Clarence E. (Baby) Lightner, 52, veteran black city councilman, and one-term controversial Michael Boyd, who is 33. Expected to announce for the mayor's race this week is Jyles J. Coggins, who formerly served as a state senator. It is still a mystery why Boyd wanted to talk with Coggins and not Lightner Tuesday morning about the race.

Filing for district council seats Tuesday were two men, William Rogers Knight, a (See CANDIDATES, P. 2)

MAN DEFIES CITY - New York - Leonard Schneider's newsstand does a brisk business here late August 27. Ever since he took over the newsstand, his father started 54 years ago, Schneider has spent 12 hours a day selling papers and magazine from his corner on Times Square. A few months, the Department of Consumer Affairs decided that Schneider's stand was blocking the sidewalk and forcing people into the street. (UPI)
