

WHAT HAPPENS TO A DREAM WHEN A DREAM COMES TRUE?

Peace with Egypt was a dream. Longed for through five bitter wars.

And it came true. Peace with Egypt is a fact.

What happened to the dream?

It lives on. In the self-sacrifice of hundreds of Sinai settlers willing to face the heartbreak of leaving the flourishing fields and orchards and vineyards they created with bare hands out of wasteland... to pull back beyond new borders into the vast stretches of another desert, the Negev... to begin all over again.

But will their sacrifice have meaning?

Will they get what they need to secure the dream of peace? The permanent housing? The greenhouses? The seeds, the trees, the water? The chance to use their Sinai know-how to grow cash crops again out of sand? To pave the way for new population centers, ending the emptiness of the Negev?

Yes, they will — if we will it. If we do our share, through our UJA/community campaign, to help them pay the price of peace.

What happens to a Jewish dream when it comes true? It lives on, in the Jewish heart.

Honor their sacrifice.
