

This 'n That

Morris Speizman has been designated as an "Honorary President" of the World Council of Synagogues, having served this organization as its President.

Benjamin Montezinos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Montezinos, have been named to the Dean's list at UNC-Chapel Hill. Benjamin is a freshman in the School of Music.

Judy Langman, daughter of Ann Langman and Don Langman has received her B.A. from the University of S.C., Columbia.

Rita (Mrs. Irving) Mond, has been reappointed for another term to the board of the Mecklenburg Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Rita has served for the past three years on their public relations committee.

On January 9 there were quite a few tired people. As you may recall it was the day of The Charlotte Observer Marathon. Among those who completed the Marathon were: Stanley Kornfeld, Eugene Schaffer and Dr. Larry Seitlin. Some of the runners who finished the 10,000 meter run were: Steve Citron, Robert Conn, Stanley Steinberger, William Ashendorf, Lee Blumenthal, Susan Tepper, Matthew Pera, Marc Silverman, Robert Schwartz, Ronald Katz, Walter Shapiro, Robert Adelman, Marilyn Perlman, Richard Rosenthal, Lisa Goldfarb and Ellie Luski. It was a family affair in the "fun run". Participating were Wendy, Emily and Anne Yudell along with Nancy and Larry Segal. Also running was Suzanne Koenigsberg.

Temple Beth El's Youth Group manned an aid station along the Marathon route on Providence Road.

The January 10 Older Adult Luncheon was hosted by the Ha Lailah Chapter BBW. The women not only catered a lovely meal but provided excellent entertainment for the group. These Older Adult Luncheons coordinated by the Charlotte Chapter BBW and the JCC have been well received and well attended each month. A hearty thank you for all who have participated.

Stuart Schwartz, curator of history at Charlotte's Mint Museum for the past six years, will be one of three Americans on an international panel of 15 judges at the International Amateur Pottery Exhibition next month in Tokyo.

David Barman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Barman, was selected to perform in the 9th and 10th grade N.C. All State Band. David received a "superior" rating; out of six tuba players selected, he is the only 9th grader.

Harold Cohen has been elected as a new member of the NCCJ board.

Jewish Thinker To Speak At UNCC

Richard L. Rubenstein, the most controversial Jewish thinker since Mordechai Kaplan, will speak at UNCC on March 2, at 8 p.m. in McNight Auditorium. Dr. Rubenstein's topic is Enlightened Conservatism in Morals and Tradition. The talk will be critiqued by two outstanding speakers, Daniel Callahan, Director of the Hastings Center, Institute of Society, Ethics, and Life Sciences, and Donald Shriver, President of the Faculty at Union Theological Seminary.

Professor Rubenstein, the Robert O. Lawton Distinguished Professor of Religion at Florida State University, is the author of six books, including the highly influential After Auschwitz: Radical Theology and Judaism, The Religious Imagination, and his recent The Cunning of History. Rabbi Rubenstein received his Rabbinic ordination from the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York in 1952 and secured his PhD from Harvard University in 1960.

Dr. Rubenstein is known as a beautiful writer and a dynamic speaker. His talk is sponsored by UNCC's University Forum and is open to the general public at no cost. For further information contact Saul Brenner (home phone-375-2903).

Kabbalat Shabbat at the Academy

Every Friday at the Academy we have a short Shabbat program. On one Friday in December, Marvin Bienstock came with his guitar. The children had a wonderful time singing with him and for him. On February 12 a longer program will take place, with special food and special songs. The parents and the siblings are invited.

Recruitment

Patty Weisman and Ann Abel are beginning their efforts to recruit students for kindergarten and first grade. If you have any questions concerning the Academy or wish to visit the school please contact them or Director Eleanor Weinglass.

Board Members in Federation Telethon

Last year a group of Hebrew Academy Board members made phone calls to help raise money for Federation. This year a number of parents helped out again.

Roots

Third to fifth graders are currently working on a project about immigration to become more aware of their "roots". They are asking grandparents and relatives who remember what life was like in Europe before their departure and about their experiences in coming to and settling in the United States. We would be delighted to have members of the community share their experiences, memories and photographs with the children.
