

— In and Around The JCC —

Adult Committee Plans Fall Season Fall Study Groups

The Adult Committee met on June 11 to begin planning for the fall session of classes. Many exciting suggestions for classes were brought up at the meeting but the committee is asking for your help. If there are classes you'd like to have as part of the adult department, we want your ideas. Or if you are interested in teaching a class, we're always looking for instructors. Call Sara Schreibman at the JCC (366-0357) with all suggestions, ideas, offers, etc.

One of the newest and most exciting additions to the adult department for the fall are three classes that the JCC is cosponsoring with UNCC. Jay Jacobi will be teaching two classes entitled "The Jewish Experience in America: A Literary Perspective" and Jerry Ingalls will be teaching one class entitled "Israel: In Pursuit of Peace." The complete information of these classes and registration information is in this issue.

The adult department would like to begin a monthly series of cooking demonstrations followed by dinner. We would like for you to do the demonstrations and serve the participants your delicious dinner. If you cook a special food or type of food we would like you to offer to do a demonstration and dinner. We are looking for men and women to commit to one month during the coming year. Tentatively, the committee is going to try this new culinary experience on Wednesday evenings beginning at 6 p.m. If you are interested in participating or have any suggestions, please all Sara Schreibman.

These are only a couple of programs to begin this fall. The possibilities are endless.

The adult Fall Schedule will appear in the September issue of the "Charlotte Jewish News."

UNCC's Office of Continuing Education and Extension and the Jewish Community Center will cosponsor three six-week study groups this fall. The classes will be held at the Jewish Community Center. A discount is available for JCC Members.

"Israel: In Pursuit of Peace?" will be led by Dr. Gerald Ingalls, Associate Professor, Department of Geography. This group will meet on Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m., beginning September 15 and ending October 20.

A durable peace along Israel's frontier has proven elusive, seemingly unattainable. This course will explore the issues which have impeded the pursuit of peace for Israel: a desire for secure borders, the changing composition of Israeli society, the effect of a multi-party political system, Palestinian refugees, the PLO, strife in Lebanon, roles of the superpowers, and the disposition of territories captured by Israel in 1968. Dr. Ingalls has traveled and lectured in Israel and recently presented a paper on voting on Israeli issues in the U.N. at a conference in Haifa.

"The Jewish Experience in America: A Literary Perspective" will be led by Dr. Jay Jacobi, Assistant Professor, Department of English. There will be two six-week sessions, both to be held on Sunday nights from 7-9 p.m. Session I - September 12, 19, Oct. 3-24; Session II - October 31, November 7, 14, 21, December 5, 12.

It is impossible to know modern American literature without seriously considering the work of Jewish authors. In their quest for values in a confusing and confused age, Jewish-American writers have made distinctive contributions to contemporary culture in the United States. Such writers as Bellow, Malamud, Roth, Singer and Potok are finding a national readership rather than the largely ethnic audience for which their predecessors had to settle. Critic Irving Malin explains: "It is not so much that the Jew has caught up with America. America has long last caught up with the Jew. His search for identity is its search. Its quest for spiritual meaning is his quest." Many of the perennial concerns of Jewish writers, concerns which were once considered parochial, are now universal. In Series I we will focus on a sense of marginality or alienation which serves, even more than religion, as a common bond for nearly all Jewish writers and explore the effects of this on their works. Stories by Singer, Malamud, Cahan, Wiesel, Bellow and others will be explored. Series II will focus on the family and the theme of generational conflict, the struggles between parents and children. The family in contemporary society, some say, is an endangered institution; this concern always has been central to the Jewish literary imagination. Read and discussed will be works by Potok, Bellow, Malamud, Roth, Kaplan and others.

The fees for these study groups are: $35.00 - JCC Members; $50.00 Non-Members.

Pool Rules Proposed Change

Presently read: During season, April 1 - October 31, in-town guests may be brought Monday through Friday at $1.00 per day per guest. Each guest must be signed in at the Pool area. Anyone not paying for their guest will be fined $2.00. Out-of-town family house guests will not be charged for entrance. All out-of-town guests may attend any day of the week. In-town guests may be brought no more than twice weekly throughout the whole year. Weekends, in-town guests will pay $3.00 per day out of season and $5.00 per day in season.

Recommended change: During season, April 1 - October 31, there will be no charge for guests Monday - Friday. Each guest must be signed in at the Pool area. Anyone not signing in their guest will be fined $2.00. In-town guests may be brought no more than once every two weeks throughout the whole year. On weekends, in-town guests will pay $3.00 per day out of season, and $5.00 per day in season. Out-of-town family house guests will not be charged for entrance.

Coming
Next Month
JCC Fall Program Scheduled

String Quilting

Sue Alvarez will offer a one day workshop on String Quilting on Wednesday, August 18 at the Jewish Community Center.

In the class, you'll string quilt a traditional or contemporary rest mat for school rest time or a small quilt, using the sewing machine. You'll surprise yourself by finishing in one class something to enjoy forever.

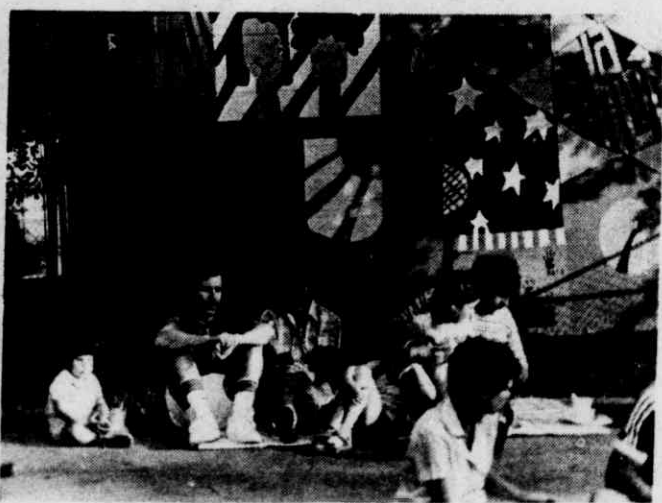

There will be a morning class from 9:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and an evening class from 6 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. The fees for the classes are $7.50 for members and $11.25 for non-members for the morning class; $7.00 for members and $10.50 for non-members for the evening class. To register send your fee with a notation as to which class you are registering for to the JCC, P.O. Box 220188, Charlotte, N.C. 28222. Call Sara Schreibman at the JCC (366-0357) for more details.

CPR

CARDIO-PULMONARY RESUSCITATION at the Jewish Community Center on Monday, August 16th and Tuesday, August 17th from 7:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. Learn life-saving techniques in the event of heart attack or accident. Includes instruction in aid to a person who is choking. This class is a must for all swimmers, tennis players, joggers and anyone concerned with saving human life. This class is for those who have never taken CPR and for those needing to renew their certification.

The fee is $5.00. To register, send your fee to the JCC, P.O. Box 220188, Charlotte, N.C. 28222.

Family Fun Days

More than 75 people enjoyed a Bar-b-que and sing along at the JCC at its first Family Day Program around the pool. After a dinner of hot dogs, salads and watermelon, Marvin Bienstock gathered the group and led the sing-a-long while playing his guitar.

Registration Form For Cosponsored UNCC & JCC Study Groups

Family Name _____ Phone _____
Address _____ Mem/Non-Mem _____
Course _____ Day _____ Time _____ Session _____

Amount Enclosed $ _____
(Make checks payable to the Jewish Community Center)

LUAU

September 11, 1982 is coming. That evening, the Adult Social Committee of the Jewish Community Center will sponsor an end of the summer Luau around the pools.

Food, drinks, and live entertainment will be part of the evening festivities. Final plans were not complete at the time of this writing, but the evening promises to be one you will never forget.

The evening will begin at 8:00 p.m. and the cost is $10 per person or $20 per couple. Only a limited number of reservations can be accommodated. You will soon be receiving an invitation in the mail, but if you do not want to delay, send in the coupon below.

JCC LUAU

Mail or bring to the JCC,
600 North Sharon Amity Road, Charlotte, NC 28211

Name _____
Address _____
Amount Enclosed $ _____
Telephone _____ No. Of People _____