"GETO"

Regina Resnik

"GETO: The Historic Ghetto of Venice," will be broadcast on PBS during the week of April 10 - 16 as part of "Holocaust Remembrance Week" on WTVI - Channel 42 at 10 p.m. on April 13. World-famous opera singer Regina Resnik appears as documentarian and narrator in this, her first film. The award-winning 60-minute documentary explores nearly five centuries of Jewish life in the Ghetto of Venice. It traces the history of the Jews in Venice, and their precarious arangement with the Doge that allowed them to live and practice their religion - though segregated - for nearly 300 years until Napoleon ordered the Ghetto burned down. It presents the Ghetto as it stands today, with its beautiful synagogues that house both the religious and secular life of the community.

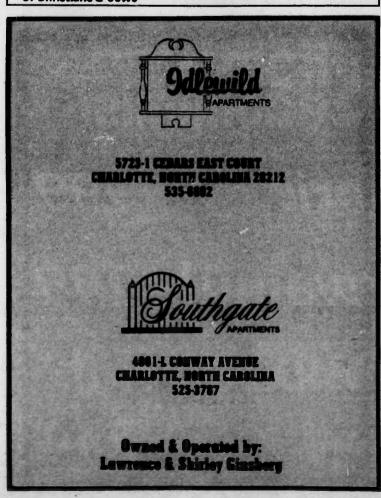

Regina Resnik became involved with the Ghetto of Venice when "The Monument of the Holocaust," by her husband, artist Arbit Blatas, was installed in 1980. "On that day," recalls Resnik, "I knew there was a drama in the story of that first Ghetto."

The film won the grand prize in the 1982 International Documentary Film Festival held in Italy.

My Visit To The Hebrew Academy

"Your pride in the accomplishment of the school is justified...I think your children are fortunate for having the opportunity to grow in such an environment."

Rabbi Isaac Furman, Principal of the Hebrew Day School in Cherry Hill, New Jersey, recently visited the Hebrew Academy. He was sent to evaluate the school by the Solomon Schechter School Association. The following are excerpts from the comments and recommendations he made to Eleanor Weinglass after the visit.

Dear Eleanor,

Allow me first to thank you for your gracious hospitality and the chauffering. It was a genuine pleasure to be with you and to have long ranging discussions on issues of mutual interest.

My sense of the school is as follows:

1. I was impressed with your school board. They appear to me as exciting, alert individuals, who are generally interested in day school education. I was intrigued by their questions and I am convinced that eventually this school will enjoy rapid growth, especially when the new facility, the communal building, will become a reality.

2. The building and facilities are adequate. There's a certain warmth and intimacy that transcends a regular school. Your walls "talk". I did not see any mischievous deeds or marking on the walls. It is a humane school. There is a wonderful rapport between students and teachers; and you and your teachers. I saw how youngsters of the fifth grade were helping youngsters of the third grade-how they rejoiced in each other's a c-complishments - how they were mindful of each other's feelings.

3. I liked your prayer session. There, too, I saw youngsters from the Kindergarten through the grades, eagerly participating in services. Generally the ability of children to read at sight was impressive. I suggest more time be dedicated to the prayer service, at least on Monday and Thursday.

4. I enjoyed being with Ziva London. I think that she is an energetic and enthusiastic teacher, who seems to prepare carefully for her task and plan for the various levels within the group. I do feel, though, that youngsters ought to see the original biblical text. Since you do have the Chumash M'Forash, I advise that when a bible story is worked on from the text you presently use, the youngster be allowed to use it in the original and select what key phrases they ought to remember, and why.

5. I enjoyed being with the Kindergarten teacher. I feel that the kindergarten youngsters are receiving a wonderful reading readiness program in the general studies area. I would like, though, to see more work done in the Hebrew area.

6. I enjoyed very much sitting in the class of Arnel and Mitch Greenberg. They are a lovely couple who have a wonderful rapport with the children, and I saw some very sound, good teaching going on. Arnel strikes me as being a very creative young lady, and the two of them are definite assets to the school.

Your pride in the accomplishment of the school is justified. Your Judaic program and general program were well integrated. Your sincerity and dedication to the school is beyond the call of duty. Very few people realize that it is more difficult to run a small school like yours, with mixed grade levels, where the onus of the school is to meet and tap each youngster's potential, vis-a-vis a structured school where youngsters move from grade to grade. I think your children are fortunate for having the opportunity to grow in such an atmosphere. You have all reasons to be very proud.

> Sincerely, Rabbi Isaac Furman
