Jewish Cadets Commissioned

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Thirty Jewish cadets, including four women, are among this spring's graduates from four U.S. service academies. The 30 are being commissioned as officers, according to Rabbi Herschel Schacter of New York, chairman of the JWB Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy.

JWB representatives will present complimentary copies of The Holy Scriptures to the Jewish officers at the baccalaureate services.

The presentation of Jewish books to the cadets is part of the intensified year-round program of outreach and service provided the Jewish personnel at the academies by the JWB Chaplaincy Commission and local Jewish communal leaders.

"The Jewish consciousness of the cadets has been raised considerably by the work of JWB, the Jewish Chaplains, and Jewish lay leaders," Schacter said.

"By doing this we heighten their receptivity to the role of Jewish lay leadership," he added. "The cadets will not only be in positions of Jewish leadership within the armed forces, they are also potential leaders for positions in their civilian communities after they leave the service."

The 30 newly commissioned Jewish officers include 12 at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.; eight at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point; five at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.; and five at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N.Y.

At the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, Rabbi Avraham Soltes is part-time chaplain. Col. Donald L. Bernstien, West Point Jewish community coordinator, was honored by JWB at its Biennial Convention in Chicago with the presentation of the JWB Military Lay Leader Award. Graduation exercises will take place May 20.

Chaplain (Capt.) Howard B. Zyskind is on full-time duty at the Air Force Academy.

"I express my great appreciation to JWB for providing each of the Jewish graduates with the special gift Bibles," the chaplain wrote. The baccalaureate service took place May 28, graduation followed June 1.

Rabbi Morris Rosenblatt serves as part-time chaplain at the U.S. Naval Academy.

UJA National Fly-In III

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 10 — In the recent third United Jewish Appeal National "Fly-In," teams of Israeli dignitaries and American lay leaders raised $510,829 for the 1983 Regular campaign in 24 small and intermediate communities nationwide, according to Sandra Weiner of Houston, Texas, the program's National Chairman.

That amount, said Mrs. Weiner, a UJA National Vice Chairman who also chaired the two earlier Fly-Ins, represented a 50.6 percent increase over giving by the same donors in 1982. In addition, she reported, $32,550 was pledged to the Israel Special Fund during the intensive week of solicitation.

The teams, consisting of eight Israelis and 16 Americans, solicited more than 100 donors; team members also participated in meetings, briefings, and newspaper, radio, and television interviews.

Participating Israelis were Lieutenant Colonel Shlomo Ariel, commander of a tank battalion; Walter Eytan, former Ambassador to France and political advisor to the Minister of Foreign Affairs; Bezalel Gordon, Director of the News Department of the Government Press Office; Jonathan Livny, Jerusalem attorney and former member of the Judge Advocate's office of the Israel Defense Forces; Major Ruso Menachem, Air force pilot; Dr. Allen Pollack, a recent immigrant from the U.S. and head of the Institute for Leadership Development, the Jewish Agency's major seminar center; Benjamin Varon, former ambassador in Latin America, and Zalman Yaron, veteran civil servant.

In addition to Mrs. Weiner, American leadership included UJA Honorary National Vice Chairmen and members of the UJA National Campaign Policy Board Billy Goldberg of Houston and Bernard Waldman of Hartford; UJA Northeast Regional Cabinet member Bernard Samers of Stamford, Connecticut; UJA Mid-Atlantic Regional Cabinet members Gary Berman of the Jewish Federation of North Jersey and Mervyn Platt of the Jewish Federation of the Delaware Valley in New Jersey; Joe Williams of Houston, Chairman of the UJA Southwest Regional Young Leadership Cabinet, and Albert Effrat, Executive Director of the Jewish Federation of Waterbury, Connecticut.

Also participating were local leaders Irwin Baker of the Jewish Federation of Raritan Valley, New Jersey; Allen Bassuk of San Antonio, Texas; Joe Bettman of Dayton, Ohio; Max Friedman of Cleveland; Colonel Jerome Hurwitz (ret.) of Boca Raton, Florida; Harriet Narens of Canton, Ohio; Norman Rotenberg of Saginaw, Michigan, and Ben Shenker of Daytona Beach, Florida.

The next national UJA Fly-In is scheduled for September 12-16 and 18-21.
