

Scenes From The JCC Winter Carnival

Children and adults enjoyed an exciting afternoon, Jan. 22, of balloons, popcorn, mime and dance at the program carnival held at McClintock Junior High. Members of the program committee along with class instructors set up booths featuring information and samples. Chuck E. Chesse made a flashy appearance and the Harlequin Mime Theatre performed on stage.

Our newest star: The JCC Banner.

The children thought the computers were the biggest hit of the day.

Dan and Dave Bernstein serve free refreshments.

Israeli dance instructor, Geri Kravitz (l) leads a dance.

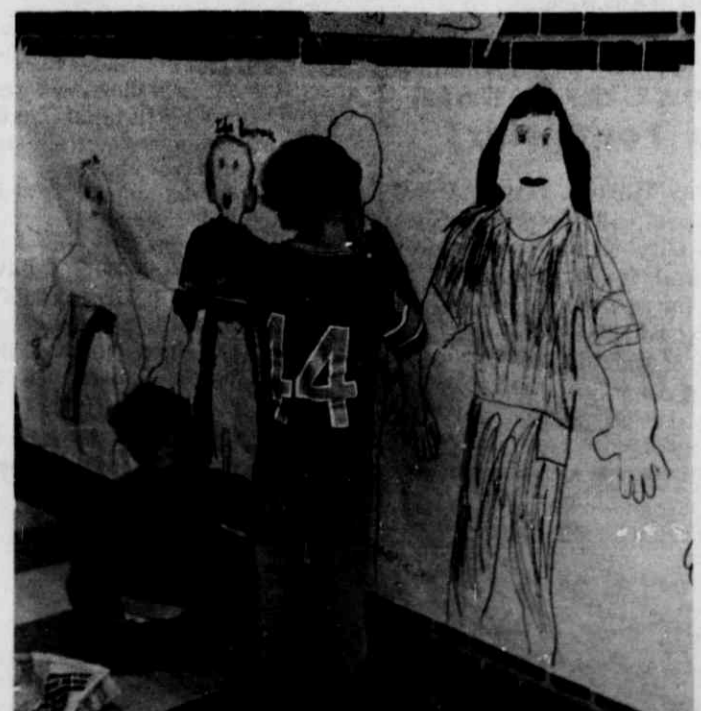

The Mime receives all the children's attention.

Nancy Gable paints Amy Widis' face.

Stu Schwartz, cultural arts committeeman, talks with artist Sue Alvarez as she finishes a quilt square.

Two young fellows add to the graffiti art that lined the wall.