Children's Classes

Sessions

CHILDREN'S CLASSES will be offered for three consecutive sessions as follows:

Session #1 - September 10 - October 5

Session #2 - October 15 - November 21

Session #3 - November 26 - December 21

Students may sign up for one, two or all sessions. Most classes will run for two or three sessions. Any new classes for Sessions #2 and #3 will be announced in the October and November "Charlotte Jewish News."

FEES LISTED ARE FOR ONE SESSION PER CHILD. No classes or workshops will be held on Rosh Hashana, Thursday, September 27, nor on Thanksgiving, Thursday, November 22. There is a break in October for the week of the 8th.

Arts And Cultures Of Other People

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade children will have the opportunity to discover the influence past periods and cultures have had on 20th century American art. They will be able to experience their discoveries with hands-on activities, such as jewelry-making, ceramics, design, weaving and painting. Students will also be exposed to lectures presented by their instructor and by the staff of the Mint Museum Education Department. Cultures explored may include Precolumbian, African, Japanese, Middle-Eastern and American. Instructor Jim Walker is also teaching the Introduction to Design course for younger children.

Breakdancing For Children And Adults

Take two hours on two Sunday afternoons to learn the basics of breakdancing! Students will see a performance by the Dynamic Breakers, the most popular exhibition group in Charlotte, on the first afternoon. They will also learn about the history of breakdancing and learn simple movements, such as, the moon-walk and the wave. The second afternoon students will be introduced to more difficult standing moves, such as popping and locking, and floor-work, such as the coffee-grinder.

Instructors are all members of the Dynamic Breakers, managed by Barbara Rogers. The Dynamic Breakers have appeared on Channel Nine's "Kids World", have danced in "Showcase" at Central Piedmont Community College, and at the Marriott. They have taught breakdancing in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system.

Creative Playgroup

Three days a week parents are invited to leave their infants and young toddlers in care of the Jewish Community Center's Creative Playgroup staff. Children up to age 2½ years will experience sharing various activities and snacks with their age groups. The Playgroup will open September 4. Staff will help children develop socialization, reading readiness, fine and gross motor development, explore art, music and special celebrations.

Parents are expected to provide lunch, and more importantly, are strongly encouraged to participate in the functioning of the Playgroup. Volunteers will receive a day of childcare free of charge in exchange for a day of involvement with the Playgroup.

Instructors Bobbie Lashua, a graduate student of child development, and Lari Massachi, worked together for last year's Jewish Community Center Playgroup.

Clubs 23 and 46

Join the Jewish Community Center and Rita Keane for a Sunday afternoon of fun and learning experiences! Second and third graders will delight in "Club 23", where they will have an opportunity to share group activities with their peers. Activities may include hiking, cooking, new games, arts and crafts, and special field trips.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders will enjoy similar activities in "Club 46". In addition they may have the opportunity to become involved in local volunteer activities, such as adopting a grandparent. Club 46 will also have an overnight.

Rita Keane is a recent graduate of UNCC's teacher certification bachelors degree program. She is now teaching second grade and worked at Camp Maccabee this past summer.
