Parenting Club Fun Workshop

Wednesday mornings are a time to learn about your child's mental and physical development. The series, coordinated by Jody Pinion, still has three more workshops which you may attend for a small fee.

On November 7, learn about Infant Stimulation, from Susan Staples. On November 14, Patsy Briggs, from the County Health Department, presents a workshop on Immunization. The final workshop, November 21, is "Your Child's Self-Esteem" led by Helen Harrill of the Charlotte Drug Education Center. All workshops are at the JCC (Armstrong House trailer).

Chai Group

October was a month filled with exciting programs and speakers. The morning class "Great Religions of the World" has been both educational and entertaining and will continue through Dec. 10. Afternoon speakers have included various political representatives, Rabbi Harold Krantzler of Temple Beth El, and Adrienne Rosenberg, Director of Jewish Federation Social Services.

A trip to the Blumenthal Home is scheduled for Nov. 12. Future afternoon programs include Marty Schner, Director of the Jewish Community Center, discussing election results, the Charlotte Police Dept. on personal security, and Rabbi Robert Seigel of Temple Beth Shalom.

For more information about the programs offered, call the JCC at 366-0357.

Clubs 23 (second and third graders) and 46 (fourth, fifth and sixth graders) got off to rousing starts in October.

Club 23 piled into two station wagons, driven by Club leader Rita Keane and volunteer Barbara Bernhardt, to visit Discovery Place's Muppet Show. There the children enjoyed television shorts, models of Muppet movie sets, and the Muppet puppets themselves. They even had the chance to operate some Muppets on stage for their club-mates to watch on closed-circuit video. The afternoon ended in a celebration of Michael Abel's seventh birthday with delicious cupcakes baked by his mother for the Club.

Club 46 got spooked out of their jeans by a hilarious trip to a haunted house. Rita Keane led them on a trip she recalled enjoying for many of her years growing up in Charlotte. It was a great kick-off to a scary Halloween week, complete with tricks and treats. Both clubs are anxiously awaiting news of their upcoming adventures, which will be arranged on a monthly basis, dependent upon the discussions of Rita and the children.

Be a Companion

Share a few hours a month with someone who wants companionship. If you're an adult, consider spending time with a young person who'd like a buddy. If you're a kid, imagine sharing some fun times with an adult who has time just for you.

If you or someone you know could use a brother, a sister, a grandparent, or someone to pal around with, please let us know. Call Irene Komor, 366-0357.
