Tay Sachs

Tay Sachs is hereditary condition found chiefly among the descendants of some Eastern European Jews. An enzyme deficiency in the nervous system causes a deterioration in a baby's ability to see, hear and swallow. It is characterized by mental retardation, paralysis and death in early childhood. There is no cure or treatment available. Tay Sachs testing has been scheduled for September 3 through September 8 at Mercy Hospital. Call 379-5000 for an appointment.

Personal Giving

On September 10 at 7:30 p.m., Florence Widis and her committee have planned a very entertaining night for all.

Remember "Personal Giving" is Ha Lailah's only direct solicitation for funds which are used towards our BBW allocation and to fund many projects.

Holiday Baskets

Ha Lailah will be preparing their many New Year holiday baskets for the needy in our Jewish community the week of September 9th.

Any donations of food, holiday items or money will be greatly appreciated by the chapter. Donations may be made by contacting Trish Golembe, 366-7611 or Adele Bedrick, 365-4087.

Membership

Ha Lailah's annual "meet 'n eat" was held on August 20 at the Armstrong house. New members were introduced and shared with us their ideas for the future of our chapter. We are looking forward to a very exciting year.

Royal Treatment

Ha Lailah once again held a small cocktail party for two Jewish families in the throws of moving from New York to Charlotte with the Royal Insurance Company. It is our feeling that this "one on one contact" with a cross section of Charlotte's Jewish community will make all the families feel welcome and will answer some of their many questions.

For more information concerning the Ha Lailah Chapter of BBW, please contact Shelley Schmeer, 364-0276.

B'nai B'rith Men

B'nai B'rith Men were at it again. Sponsoring a picnic for all to attend. This was the Second Annual August Freeze We brought our kids, wives, or our main squeeze. We had a party at Park Road Park, With hot dogs and beer until it got dark. The theme was Hawaiian, we dressed apropos. The only thing missing was a visit from Don Ho. August 25th was the date for a really good time. The best part was that it didn't cost a dime.

Congratulations to Eric Sklut! During 1984-85, Eric recruited 15 new members. Ten of these members joined during the recent District membership campaign. In acknowledgement and appreciation of his efforts, Eric was awarded the B'nai B'rith Membership Achievement Award. He also won the District drawing for members who recruited 7 or more members during the campaign. Eric is now the proud owner of a 5-inch AC-DC television.

Our next event will be a dinner on September 11 at the Royal Palace Restaurant at 6 p.m. Guest speaker will be Frances Crockett, president and general manager of the Charlotte O's. Wives and guests invited. For further information, call Ken Stern at 563-2696.
