

Gifted and Talented School of Art At JCC Receives Scholarship Gift

The Gifted and Talented School of Art is celebrating its third successful and happy year at the JCC with the announcement of two annual one-year tuition scholarships and three annual purchase prize awards.

The tuition scholarships are sponsored jointly by the School of Art and by the JCC. One scholarship will be awarded on the basis of financial need combined with artistic merit, and will be open to application. This award, to be named the JCC Gifted Art Award, will be made based on initial recommendations by the director of the program, Jillian Goldberg, and will be adjudicated in May by the professional staff of the JCC. The second tuition scholarship will be awarded to a student in grade four or above who has shown outstanding progress, dedication and talent. This scholarship will be awarded at the discretion of the Director of the School of Art, and will be named in honor of her late parents, Freda and Harry Zausmer. This award will enable a deserving youngster to cultivate the spirit of individuality and creativity which Mrs. Goldberg's parents held dear.

Three art purchase awards will be announced in May at the opening of the JCC Annual Exhibition of Child Art from the Gifted and Talented Center. These awards will be selected by an independent panel of child art professionals. The pieces selected will be framed for display in the JCC permanent collection and will become part of a collection of child art used for educational research and presentations. The students whose work is chosen will receive awards of art materials.

Gym Shorts

Hi everyone! For those of you who were unable to attend the racquetball exhibition/clinic on Jan. 12, you missed a great time. We had 30 people watch a very exciting racquetball demonstration featuring the 12th and 35th ranked players in North and South Carolina: Tim Black and Paul Cottrell. After the demonstration Murray Simon, Joanne Bigel and Neil Elsner enjoyed getting on the court with Paul for a free clinic while Mike Schreiber and Howard Mendelsohn decided to try their luck in a game against Tim Black.

Next time you are in the gym look for our new pro shop. We will have racquets, gloves, socks, etc. for your convenience.

Our Youth Hoopster League is underway and the competition has been excellent. Jeff Horowitz, David Segal and Zack DeFelipp each played exceptional games in the six and seven-year-old league matchups. In the eight and nine-year-old league Noah Rothstein, Keith Levine, David Krusch and Matthew Gordan led their teams and in the 10 and 11-year-old group Robbie Sachs and Rachel Gold led the way for their teams.

Our winter swim team has begun practicing for the '92 season and Rachel and Laura

Martin cannot wait for the swim meets to begin. The "J" will be competing against four other teams this season. If your child would like to be on the "J" team, contact Millie Campbell in the aquatics department.

Finally, the tips of the month. David Swimmer, come on down to the "J" to work out during your lunch break; Mickey Gold, the offer for the racquetball lessons is still good if you will come down and see us more often; Wendy Rosenbloom, congratulations on your finish in the Charlotte Observer Marathon. Next year begin your training a little sooner and you might have a better shot at the course record; and finally, to all Health Club members, take advantage of those "J" bucks and get involved in our quality programs here.

Golden Circle Theatre and JCC Present "Design for Living"

The third play in the 1991-92 Theatre Series to be presented in Gorelick Hall at Shalom Park will be "Design for Living" by Noel Coward. This very lively comedy, set in Paris, London and New York, concerns a double menage-a-trois between a painter, a playwright, an art dealer and the girl who is in love with them all.

Performances will be held on Thurs., Mar. 19, 8:15 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 21, 8:15 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 22, 2 p.m.; Thurs., Mar. 26, 8:15 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 28, 8:15 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 29, 2 p.m.

The last play of the series is "The Diary of Anne Frank," by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett. It will be presented on Apr. 30, May 2, 3, 4, 7, 9 and 10 in conjunction with Yom Hashoah, the Jewish remembrance of the Holocaust.

Tickets for each performance are available at the JCC front desk or at the door. Tickets are $12 Saturday nights ($11 members and seniors); $10 all other times ($9 members and seniors).
