Roots and Branches

Miram Weiner, author and lecturer in the field of Jewish genealogy and Holocaust research says that old photos are a valuable resource in tracing your roots.

Based on personal experiences, Weiner relates in a monthly column she writes, that "Most of us have a varying number of photographs from the 'old country' which are surprisingly similar." She refers to photos taken of people as they sat rigidly staring straight into the camera. Often, these old photos had something written on the back identifying the date, place or names of the people. The handwritten notes and printing on the reverse side can lead to towns of origin and help determine relationships of our ancestors. Through these aged and fading photographs, our loved ones live on in black and white.

For information on how to research your family history and the availability of documents in former Soviet archives, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Weiner at 136 Sandpiper Key, Secaucus, NJ 07094.

HaLailah B.B.W. Involvement in the... Speizman Jewish Library

Excerpts from the HaLailah Bulletin

For the past few years, HaLailah Chapter of BBW members have donated hundreds of dollars to purchase Jewish books for the BECKY SHULIMSON MEMORIAL CHILDREN'S LIBRARY at Shalom Park. Becky Shulimson, a charter member of HaLailah Chapter, died of cancer twelve years ago. When the Speizman Library at Shalom Park was opened, members of HaLailah Chapter asked that the children's section be named for Becky to honor her dedication and devotion to Jewish education. By sponsoring the Children's Library, HaLailah Chapter enables our children to learn more about our heritage and Jewish life. We encourage you to bring your children to visit our Library.

This past summer, HaLailah Chapter sponsored a reading incentive program that resumed in January. Through this program children were encouraged to read Jewish books and win prizes according to the number of books they read.

November was Jewish Book Month and everyone was involved. Again this year, HaLailah members helped at the book fair and provided prizes for the art and writing contests that were done by the children in both Religious Schools.

All of these things are provided for by donations made to the Becky Shulimson Memorial Children's Library Fund. To make a donation "in honor of" or "in memory of" someone, call Amalia Warshenbrot in the Library at Shalom Park at 366-5007.
