Chechen Jews Begin New Lives in Israel

UJA Press Service/Photo by Avi Flirschield

Only a few weeks before, this same father and son, preparing to leave for Israel, stood in their Grozny home while soldiers held a gun to the boy's head and threatened to kill him if his parents tried to leave the country with any of their possessions. They were brought out of the war zone to new lives by the Jewish Agency for Israel emissaries. The Jewish Agency is supported in large part by the annual UJA Federation campaign.

Deadline for the September Issue is August 10

First Light Gallery located at the intersection of Pineville-Matthews Rd (highway NC-51) and Carmel Rd. in Carmel Commons, is Charlotte's newest fine-craft gallery with over 150 artists represented in 1600 square feet of space. First Light Gallery showcases contemporary American handcrafted jewelry, ceramics and glass by craftspeople whose work can not be found in other Charlotte-area galleries. Many of the artists have never shown their craft in North Carolina, but are well known throughout the USA.

Owners Stephan & Christine Amsbury, have created a contemporary casual atmosphere to showcase the pieces in their Gallery. Both Stephan and Chris have collected fine-craft for years (Stephan professes to be the world-worst potter); they have searched throughout the country to find unique and interesting pieces for your pleasure emphasizing the eastern-coastal-area and its lighthouses.

Our hours are Monday through Saturday 11Am-7Pm; Sundays by appointment
