HEALTH & RECREATION

Coming to the JCC in May

Lillian

A Play by William Luce
based upon the Autobiographical works of Lillian Hellman

performed by Sandra Queen
directed by Marilyn Carter produced by Torchbearer

This one-woman touring production is a depiction of the iconoclast and author of "The Children's Hour," "The Little Foxes," "Watch on the Rhine," and "Toys in the Attic." Widely known for her life and thoughts, Lillian Hellman is identified inextricably with the political persecutions of the McCarthy era and the House Un-American Activities Committee. The great woman of letters relives her life while awaiting word on the health of her life-long companion, Dashiell Hammett, in a New York hospital waiting room, January 10, 1961.

Performance dates and times:

Judaism and the Internet

Learn about the growing array of Internet resources of interest to Jews. Join Jack Wexler, from the Family Computer Center, and Susan Jacobs, Programs for Jewish Living Director at the JCC, for a world wide tour of the World Wide Web. If you need kosher recipes, holiday information, a Dvar Torah, information about Israel, or anything Jewish, it's on the Web. We will show you our favorite sites, give you a list of the best sites, and the technical information you need to save Web graphics for your personal use. If you have never experienced the World Wide Web now is your chance to jump in "Jewish Style"!

Date: Thursday, April 30th
Time: 7:30-9:00
Instructors: Jack Wexler & Susan Jacobs
Cost: $5.00 JCC Members

"Could the Allies Have Bombed Auschwitz-Birkenau?"

This question will be explored in a very informative and thought provoking evening, featuring Dr. Stuart Erdheim, Jewish historian and authority on the subject. Dr. Erdheim has assembled a slide presentation featuring documentation from the National Archives, as well as documents from military and civilian leaders. Dr. Erdheim has been published in the magazine Holocaust and Genocide Studies.

Don't miss this opportunity to explore this controversial topic.
