Alan Goldberg Honored for Years of Service as JFS Chairman

Alan Goldberg admires the gift he received at a dinner in his honor.

ion to the board members as he accepted the gift of a decorative menorah (adorned with a spinning dreidel). He singled out his wife, Ruth, for aiding him in the promotion of the work of JFS. "We prove every day that we're a compassionate and caring community," Goldberg commented, "and I can't tell you how much pleasure that gives me." ☆

Outgoing JFS Chair Alan Goldberg with incoming Chair Jeff Turk.

The Executive Board of Jewish Family Services held a dinner party last month to pay tribute to Alan Goldberg, who is stepping down as Chairman after three years of service. Goldberg has been an active board member since the early 1990s.

"Alan's patience, enthusiasm, sense of humor, and level of caring have benefited this agency enormously," said Penny Wagner-Schuster, JFS Executive Director. "He worked tirelessly to raise our profile, and as an example of his leadership, he increased the goal of our annual Friends Campaign from around $50,000 to over $100,000. He will be missed."

At the farewell party held at the home of Audrey Madans, new Chairman Jeff Turk thanked Goldberg for setting such high standards for the agency. Turk, who assumes leadership duties this month, also thanked outgoing board members Marilyn Shapiro and Nina Lewis for their efforts on behalf of JFS.

"You make me look good," Goldberg said in typically soft-spoken and self-deprecating fash-
