Taste of Hebrew High on April 30

Every Wednesday, at Shalom Park, Jewish teens are busily engaging in all sorts of Jewish learning. Some are studying from the ancient texts, some are listening to and translating Israeli rock music, some are creating culinary masterpieces, and some are learning how to make ethical Jewish decisions. There is something for every student and every learning style at Charlotte's Hebrew High.

On April 30, at 7 PM we are holding our annual "Taste of Hebrew High." All new and potential students are encouraged to bring their parents to check out our program. There will be information about our plans for next year, classes offered, and an opportunity to ask questions. Charlotte's Hebrew High is one of the premier Jewish teen organizations in the United States. Please attend and find out what we are all about.

We are beginning our fourth year of "Hebrew for Credit." Due to a generous Impact Grant from the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte and an agreement with the Charlotte-Mecklenburg and Union County School districts, Hebrew High students are learning conversational Hebrew and receiving language credit in their secular schools. The class was developed to help our young people deepen their connection to the worldwide Jewish community through our common language.

At Hebrew High, we are always developing new curricula to stimulate teens' minds, get their creative juices flowing and strengthen their Jewish identity. We create the Jewish leaders of tomorrow, right here at Shalom Park every Wednesday evening. Don't let your child be left out. ### 2nd Annual Hadassah Israeli Products Fair (November 22)

Vendors and Interested Community Volunteers Needed

In an effort to expand our offerings of Israeli Products, the Israeli Products Fair Committee is seeking information about and connections to Israeli vendors, especially from those in the community visiting Israel this coming year. We are seeking individuals and corporations with a true interest in Israel and willing to help us spread the word about the importance of buying Israeli products and supporting Israel. We are hoping to be able to reveal more information a special raffle prize shortly.
