Levine-Sklut Judaic Library and Resource Center

Making Quality Teacher Education Possible

The Levine-Sklut Judaic Library and Resource Center is proud to provide high-quality teacher resources and workshops for Jewish educators in the greater Charlotte area. The Teacher Resource Center of the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library is funded - in large part - by the Blumenthal Foundation. Originally called the "Carolina Agency for Jewish Education," it was founded and supported by the late Herman Blumenthal who was committed to enhancing and promoting all types of education including Jewish education.

Deb Krivoy

In addition to teacher support and educational resources, the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library and Resource Center also organizes the Series for the Advancement of Jewish Education (S.A.J.E.). The Library is fortunate to bring top-quality educational experts to Charlotte with the help of the Lenora Stein Fund for Community Creative Learning. We are proud to honor the memory of both Lenora Stein and Herman Blumenthal with our many educational offerings.

In 2016, the Series for the Advancement of Jewish Education - which is co-sponsored by the Charlotte Jewish Film Festival - is excited to be bringing Deb Krivoy of Avoda Arts to Charlotte to facilitate two free, innovative workshops for professional development on February 15:

* Arts Infusion: Classroom Strategies to Cultivate More Meaningful Jewish Learning

* Reel Learning: Short Films to Spark Jewish Connections and Conversations

Participation is free, but space is limited. For more information contact Debby Block dblock@shalomcharlotte.org or 704-944-6780. ✡
