What's new in queer television

'In the Life' comes to UNC TV

America's pioneer gay and lesbian news-magazine "In the Life" now airs monthly on UNC-TV. Although "In the Life" airs nationally on 246 public television stations every month, reaching 70 million U.S. households, UNC-TV is only the second station in the South to offer the series as part of its regular programming.

This March, in honor of Women's History Month, "In the Life" celebrates the diverse lives and accomplishments of several extraordinary women in its episode "Leading Ladies," airing March 3 on UNC-TV. Tennis legend Martina Navratilova serves as guest host.

UNC-TV will air "In the Life" on its educational channel the first Saturday of every month at 11 p.m., reaching 600,000 homes in the Research-Triangle area.

Additional episodes of "In the Life" are available to download via podcast at www.inthelifetv.org. Research-Triangle residents may also sign up to receive airdate and program alerts online.

here! launches on Time Warner Cable in greater Charlotte area here!, America's premium gay television network, is pleased to announce that it is now available as a Subscription Video on Demand (SVOD) service to Time Warner Cable customers in the greater Charlotte, N.C., area.
