

OPENLY GAY
NCAA COLLEGE FOOTBALL CHAMPION

BRIAN SIMS

MEET & GREET Fundraiser

In 2000, Brian Sims was the captain of the Bloomsburg University football team in northeast Pennsylvania, and in the middle of the greatest season in the NCAA Division II school's history, Sims did the unthinkable: he came out of the closet! In doing so, the regional All-American and team captain became the only openly gay college football captain in NCAA history and the most notable college player to ever come out today. Overall, Sims played 8 years of winning football and in 2000 took his college team to the NCAA Division II National Championship. Today Sims is an LGBT advocate and successful policy attorney, living and working in Philadelphia.
