

Comedian heads to Charlotte with anyways or really care to be at my show either, so I really don't give a shit. So, if you're really offended by it, then, please by all means, go. I understand some people come in and it's not at all what they are expecting. They think it's some air hostess musical review or something. I feel sorry for them. I do try to put disclaimers on my posters now (laughs). People are just so offended by things these days. I think that's hilarious. There's nothing really to be offended by. I think it's a big excuse sometimes for people to say, "How could you write that? People died on that ship." And, I'm like, yeah, people die every day. Did you know the people who died on the Costa Concordia? No. Well, the ship's funny. It fell over. It's funny. Yeah, they died. Sorry about that, but it's still funny that an Italian flipped the ship (laughs).

Of all the various characters other than Pam Ann that you've portrayed, which is your favorite?

I guess Lily would be the next one — the Asian one with the glasses. I've had people offended at that, but not the Asians. The Asians love it. They can't wait for it. I like doing Lily. I have performed briefly as the other characters but I didn't really enjoy it. I would like to do a big black TSA woman. I know it's been doing, but something in my vein. Or, a gay man (laughs). ::

Theatre group mounts play

Makes regional debut in Queen City

by Lainey Millen :: lainey@goqnotes.com

CHARLOTTE — Queen City Theatre Company will present Mike Bartlett's "Cock" (The Cockfight Play, aka "----") from Nov. 7-23 at Duke Energy Theatre, 345 N. College.

The play tells the story of John who breaks up with his boyfriend and then finds the girl of his dreams. Both suitors are willing to wait for a decision, as well as fight for him. It hails from New York's Off-Broadway run, now making its regional debut in Charlotte. It stars Glenn T. Griffin, Iesha Hoffman, Kristian Wedolowski and Hank

West. The production is for mature audiences only and contains adult content.

It received the Olivier Award in the UK for Best Original Play.

Performances are at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 7, 13-14 and 19-21 and 8 p.m. on Nov. 8-9, 15-16 and 22-23. There is a special discount for the Nov. 13 performance at $15.

Tickets are $22-24 and may be purchased online.

Student and senior discounts are available.
