

Cloudbusters Close Season Against Fordham Today

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 27—Jim Crowley, once the pride of Fordham on Rose Hill and now Lieut. Comdr. James H. Crowley of Chapel Hill, returns to Gotham tomorrow where his U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School Cloudbusters meet the Fordham Rams at the Yankee Stadium in a headline grid attraction.

The game, No. 11 on the Cloudbuster schedule, ends the season for both teams and a rousing battle is expected. With Crowley will come more than a few former Fordham football players, now enlisted in the Navy and still battling for their former college coach.

The Rams, of course, would like nothing better than a victory over the Cloudbusters and such a thought is well within the realm of possibility in view of last Saturday's developments. While the Navy was handing William & Mary its first defeat of the season, the Rams were kicking the dope bucket around by handing the Missouri Tigers, Big Six champions, a defeat at New York. Missouri was the top heavy favorite before game time but after the first kickoff the Tigers had trouble avoiding a crushing defeat.

Tomorrow the Cloudbusters can expect anything from the Rams and will have to perform in the same manner that has given them eight victories and one tie in ten starts to date. The 'Busters were stopped for three quarters in the William & Mary clash. In the fourth period Mort Landsberg broke loose for 16 yards and a touch-down on a double reverse and a few minutes later Walter Zwiezynski popped through center from the 10 for the second counter. Hayward Sanford place-kicked the extra points.

Two more games were to be played by the Cloudbusters after the Fordham tilt but both have been cancelled because of transportation difficulties. Colgate was to have been the foe at Chapel Hill, Dec. 5, and the Iowa Pre-Flight School was also scheduled to play on the Cloudbusters' field, Dec. 12.

Two Cadets Break Obstacle Course Mark

A new obstacle course record of 3:09 minutes was established Nov. 18 by Charles W. Scranton, Jr., 11th Battalion cadet from East Orange, N. J. The record run clipped eight seconds off the 3:17 mark previously set by Deonicy S. Red of the 6th Battalion.

Francis J. O'Donnell, Jr., 12th Battalion cadet from Hartford, Conn., also bettered the old record the same day by negotiating the course in 3:12.
