

'Busters Meet Long Island In New York

Defeat LaSalle, Lose to Duke, This Past Week

Another intersectional opponent will face the Cloubusters tonight when Long Island University meets the Pre-Flighters in New York City's Madison Square Garden.

Making the trip were nine players, namely, Captain Gus Broberg, John Barr, Forest Kendall, Kenneth Hashagen, Bernard Schiffer, Carl Freeman, Bob Masterson, Howard McWilliams, and John Kraft.

The team left here Thursday night, and arrived in New York yesterday morning. They are staying at the Hotel Pennsylvania, and will return here tomorrow.

Win Over LaSalle

A victory over LaSalle College at Philadelphia in an overtime tilt, 41-39, and a loss to Duke's Blue Devils here, 51-48, marked the play of the Pre-Flight Cloubusters this past week.

Both games were nip and tuck affairs, the outcome always in doubt until the final minute of play.

In the overtime tilt at Philadelphia, LaSalle apparently had the game well in hand when it led, 33-31, with a little over a minute to play. But at this point, Dartmouth's record-breaking scorer, Cadet Gus Broberg, fired a set shot to deuce the count and sent the game into overtime.

Broberg, no ball of fire until this point, also was the hero of the overtime action. He first stuck up a long one-hander, but Thompson matched it with two minutes left.

Cadet Masterson pushed the Cloubusters out in front again with a set stab, but LaSalle's Kwasny quickly cut the edge to a point with a foul shot.

Again it was Broberg, this time on a scoring pass from out of bounds. But then Kwasny dumped another foul, and it was only 39-37 with a minute to play.

A perfect pass from Kraft to Penn State's Johnny Barr put the game on ice with 30 seconds left to play, and LaSalle's final two points in the last 15 seconds went for naught.

Until midway the second period the Cloubusters couldn't get started, but at this point the proteges of Lt. (jg) Dyke Raese snapped out of their lethargy and went to town.

Broberg's 13 points—two field goals in the first and second half and two in the overtime—paced the victors.

Artist-Cadet Aiello Again: This Time the Cloubusters and Coach Raese

CADET GENE AIELLO

CADET JAMES G. STURGIS, Penn State graduate who served as team manager until he completed his Pre-Flight training here this week.
