Bowlers May Play For Worthy Cause

Officers and enlisted men at this station are invited to participate in an infantile paralysis bowling tournament next week at the local bowling alley, it was announced yesterday by Vic Huggins, chairman of the infantile paralysis drive in Orange County.

All proceeds above actual expenses will be placed in the infantile paralysis fund, Mr. Huggins announced. First prize will be $10.00 in war stamps, second prize will be a pair of bowling shoes donated by the Carolina Sports Shop, and third prize is a sweater donated by Jack Lipman's.

The contest, which runs from Tuesday through Friday, is as follows: Participants, besides paying for their games, will pay a 30 cents entrance fee. Each player will bowl three consecutive games, and the individual with the highest set will be declared the winner. Players may bowl as many three game sets as they desire as long as they pay their 30 cents for each three lines they want to count in the contest.

Another honor has been bestowed upon Comdr. Tom Hamilton, head of the Navy's Pre-Flight physical training program. Following the announcement that he was named football's "man of the year," word came last week that he has been named by the executive committee of the National Soccer Coaches Association as the man who did the most for soccer in 1942.

Lieut. Earle C. Waters, head soccer coach at the local Pre-Flight School said Comdr. Hamilton was selected for the honor because he had played a major role in establishing the sport as an important part of the Pre-Flight conditioning program.

That Comdr. Hamilton was the man to be named, there can be no doubt. His enthusiasm to use sports, as the basis for training future Navy pilots to be the toughest in the world, has done much to keep competitive athletics going during the war. To those who know him, he is "sport's man of the year."

Cloudbusters Drop Two Games; Meet N. C. State Here Monday

Coach Dyke Raese's Cloudbusters dropped two games during the past week, one a 50-40 defeat at the hands of Long Island University in Madison Square Garden, and the other a 47-45 defeat by George Washington here Wednesday afternoon.

The Cloudbusters were ahead in both games with ten minutes to play, but in each case the winners pulled ahead in the final moments.

In the Garden game the Pre-Flighters were tied at halftime, 24-24, and thanks to two uncanny shots by Broberg and Masterson midway the final period they grabbed a 33-30 lead. After that, though, their offense got lost in the shuffle, and Long Island in the next few minutes scored 13 points while the cadets made none. A late scoring spree by Masterson, who was playing his final Cloudbuster game, went for naught.

The George Washington-Pre-Flight game was another close one, neither team ever being ahead by more than five points. With five minutes to go the Cloudbusters were ahead, 41-40, but Gustafson of the visitors scored two in quick succession to give the Colonials a lead they never lost.

The loss through graduation of Walter Hoffman, Bob Masterson, and Howard McWilliams forced Coach Raese to start three new men for the locals in the George Washington tilt. McMennamin, Caldwell and Jones were the newcomers who started along with Kraft and Broberg. As usual, Broberg was high man with 14 points, followed by Caldwell with 12.

Next home game on the Cloudbuster schedule is Monday afternoon when North Carolina State comes to Chapel Hill for a game with the cadets. Always boasting a good team, the game should be one of the better attractions of the home season.

Pre-Flighters Lose Wrestling Match At Naval Academy

One of the best wrestling teams in the Naval Academy's history defeated the Chapel Hill Pre-Flighters, 25 to 11, last Saturday afternoon at Annapolis, Md.

The outcome of the match was never in doubt as the Annapolis squad got off to a fast start to capture the first two matches, but considering that the Pre-Flighters had but two wrestlers on their team with previous experience in college competition they made a fine showing.

Charles Swift, heavyweight, sparked the Navy squad, winning over Pre-Flight's J. G. Williams with a fall of 3:37. R. B. Kitt, Navy's 145-pounder, also turned in a good match, throwing his opponent, W. H. Staton, in 3:39.

The summary:

- 121—M. W. MacDonald (Navy) over C. B. Armstrong, fall, 1:30.
- 128—C. L. Joslin, Jr., (Navy) over N. Ozog, fall, 4:52.
- 136—C. A. Dorn (Pre-Flight), decision over J. W. Foust.
- 145—R. B. Kitt (Navy) over W. H. Staton, fall, 3:39.
- 155—S. F. Mordecai (Pre-Flight) over J. Henson, points, 7.
- 165—R. M. Johnson (Navy) over J. N. Hendershot, default.
- 175—R. E. Benson (Pre-Flight) over E. P. Yaes, decision.

Heavyweight—Charles S. Swift (Navy) over J. G. Williams, fall, 3:37.
