Burt Ingwersen Takes Over As Head Grid Coach

New head football coach of the Clodbusters is Lt. Comdr. Burton Ingwersen, who for the past eight years was line coach at Northwestern University and formerly head coach at the University of Iowa.

He succeeds Lt. Comdr. "Sleepy" Jim Crowley, who was recently transferred to duty outside the continental United States.

Coach Ingwersen has been connected with football since his undergraduate days at the University of Illinois. He was graduated in 1920 and that year was named on several All-American selections at tackle. A three letterman at Illinois, he played football, basketball, and baseball.

In 1924 he was named head football coach at the University of Iowa, becoming one of the youngest coaches in the game. On his Iowa teams were two players who later became famous coaches and who are now Navy officers in the Pre-Flight training program. They are Lieut. Denny Myers, who was head coach at Boston College, and Lieut. E. W. (Spike) Nelson, who was head coach at Yale. Myers is now stationed at the Iowa Pre-Flight School as a coach, and Nelson was recently named head football coach at the St. Mary's Pre-Flight School.

After coaching Iowa football teams for eight years he went to Louisiana State University where he was line coach from 1932 to 1935. Then followed his job at Northwestern.

Lt. Comdr. Ingwersen was commissioned in the Navy this past February and took his indoctrination training here. This is his first Navy assignment. He is married and has one son, age 13. His family is in Chicago at the present time, but will join him in the near future.

Sports Program

Vindicators Lead In Spring Sports

Possessing a 23 point total, the Vindicators took over the top position in the sports program last week. In second place are the Catalinas with 20, followed by the Mustangs with 19.

Receiving the liberty award along with the Vindicators were the Skyrockets, who won the regimental track jamboree.

Through last Saturday the Vindicators had won three and lost one in football, won three and lost none in wrestling, won one and tied two in boxing, and won five and lost one in basketball.

Six sports—football, basketball, track, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics—were included in the program this week.

Other standings beside the three leaders place the Buccaneers fourth with 17, followed by the Wildcats, Devastators, and Kingfishers with 16 each, the Buffaloes with 14, the Helldivers with 12, the Skyrockets and Mariners with 11 each, and the Coronados with 5.

Warmerdam to Perform At Navy-Duke Meet Today

Ensign Warmerdam

Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the world's greatest pole vaulter who is taking his indoctrination here as a V-5 instructor, will lead the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight track team against Duke University this afternoon at Durham.

It will mark Warmerdam's first appearance since he set a new world's record at Chicago two weeks ago. Since that time the "Flying Dutchman" has been scaling 15-ft. straight walls, 20-ft. cargo nets, and meeting other athletic hazards in his training here, and just how his muscles will react to the "all-around" training will be known by tonight.

Other than Warmerdam, the Pre-Flighters have little to offer in the way of track stars. Duke, always one of the finer track teams in the Southern Conference, will be led by Moffat Storer and Bob Gantt. Storer, who runs the hurdles and the 100-yard dash, is one of the fastest stars in the country. Gantt is a weight man.

Besides those who won the regimental track and field events held here last week, four or five newcomers will be wearing Navy colors. Among them are Thomas Craig, a graduate of the University of South Carolina; Leonard Barnum of West Virginia Wesleyan; Ray Alee of San Francisco State, and Mark Panther of the University of Iowa.

Craig throws the discus, Barnum and Panther the javelin and Alee the shot. All were stars in college, but since graduating have had little time to practice. However, should they come anyways close to the records they made in college, the Pre-Flighters will be strong in these events.

Winners of the track and field jamboree who expect to take part are T. A. Golden in the 70-yd. high hurdles, J. R. Voshell in the 80-yd. low hurdles, C. A. Charlet in the 440, J. J. Kissell in the mile run, G. E. Goldman in the 100-yd dash, H. G. Richmond in the 880, D. P. Turk in the discus, W. M. Hamscher in the shot, W. F. Bates and A. W. Clark in the broad jump, and C. J. Chapman in the high jump.

'Busters Meet State at Raleigh

Al Freudenheim will start on the mound for the Clodbusters this afternoon at Raleigh as the Navy Pre-Flight nine opens its ration league schedule against North Carolina State.

While Lieut. Don Kepler, head baseball coach, would not predict how the Clodbusters would make out in the ration league—which includes the University of North Carolina, Duke and N. C. State—he did state Thursday afternoon that he was pleased with the progress the team has made.

"We don't have a lot of ball players on the club with previous college or professional experience," Kepler commented, "but they've shown a lot of spirit, and I think they'll do okay."

Always possessing one of the better baseball teams in North Carolina, N. C. State will prove a real test for the Clodbusters. Moreover the boys from Raleigh will be out for their first athletic victory over the Clodbusters. They lost to Pre-Flight in football, dropped two games each to the cadets and officers' basketball teams.

Already the Clodbusters have played three games with Carolina, none of which was official and none of which went nine innings. Carolina won the first game, 4 to 1, the Clodbusters won the second, 3 to 2, and the last, which was played Tuesday afternoon, ended in a 7 to 7 tie. In that Carolina is the defending Southern Confer-
