Colored Post Card Made from Artpiece

NEW RECOGNITION of his artistry has come to Cadet Gene Aiello, 13th Battalion graduate of the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School here. While undergoing Pre-Flight training, Cadet Aiello created the water-color mural now hanging opposite the main entrance in Navy Hall. The painting shows a typical cadet leaving the Station after completing Pre-Flight work, while in the background Pre-Flights are portrayed in uniforms symbolizing the various activities which constitute the program.

One of the country's largest manufacturers of colored post cards has just reproduced Cadet Aiello's mural in the original colors. The cards are now on sale in the Cadet Store.

squadron hoisted his flag.

The mast, which is located on the lower end of Alexander Field, now flies the colors of the 12 squadrons, adding incentive and new interest to the sports competition.

Comdr. Graff, is one of the oldest military decorations in the world that is in current use. It was established by Gen. George Washington 160 years ago.

Opening feature of the Smoker program was the playing of the cadets' selected songs on Fred Waring's "Victory Tunes" radio show. These tunes brought to the Pre-Flight audience through the loud speaker system in Memorial Hall included Blue Skies, Penn- sylvania Polka, The Navy Hymn and Sky Anchors.

The entertainment moved along at a lively pace, with musical varieties furnished by a specialty foursome of Chapin, Logan, Dugan and Logan, smooth harmonizing by the Cloudbuster harmony quartette, featuring Cadet Richard Warren, soloist, a selection of fast and sweet tunes by the "Eight Counts of Rhythm" led by B. J. Travaglia, Bugler 1c, plus the customary fine music of the Pre-Flight band.

Well liked by the audience of cadets, crew, officers and families was a trampoline and tumbling exhibition given under the direction of Lieut. Joseph Hewlett, USNR, head coach of gym and tumbling.
