

All-Stars Defeated; Erwin Auditorium Plays Here Today

The battery combination of Lt. Alexander Sabo and Lt. (jg) Robert Williams paved the way for the Cloudbusters to register a 6 to 0 victory over the Burlington All-Stars here last Sunday afternoon.

Williams, on the mound, held the All-Stars to five singles, no two of which came in the same inning while Sabo hit two home runs to account for half the Pre-Flight tallies.

Ensign Wendell Wear, playing shortstop, led the Pre-Flight hitting and figured in most of the scoring.

In the opening frame he singled, stole second, and scored when Lt. (jg) John Hassett was safe at first on an error. Again in the sixth with the score still 1 to 0, Wear doubled into left field and scored on Ensign Ray Stoviak's single to right. Followed Sabo's first home run.

A base on balls, stolen base, and infield out provided another Pre-Flight score in the seventh, and Sabo's second home run in the seventh produced the final run of the contest.

No other games were played over the past week, but this afternoon Erwin Auditorium comes here for a game starting at 1600 on Emerson Field. V-5'er Ray Scarborough, who pitched with the Washington Nationals before coming into the Navy, will start on the mound for the locals.
