Officer in Charge of Cadet Regiment; Lieut. Comdr. Burton A. Ingwersen, USNR, Athletic Director, and Lieut. Comdr. Robert H. Bruce, USNR, head of the Academic Department.

Both Admiral Hardison and Admiral Murray viewed the various Pre-Flight activities while visiting the station, and Admiral Hardison made a special trip out in the woods on Wednesday morning to check the survival training.

Following the review the distinguished visitors attended the baseball game between the University of North Carolina and the Pre-Flight School on Emerson Field, and in the evening they were present for the Sports Carnival.

The two sport events on the day's program were held in honor of Capt. O. O. "Scrappy" Kessing, USN, the first Commanding Officer here.

first for the Pre-Flighters. Two more were added in the second when Gaulin hit a home run, scoring Burkewitz ahead of him. Jim Crampsey singled home Dusty Cooke for the single run in the third, and five hits and three base on balls provided the Cloudbusters with six tallies in the fourth.

Two base on balls, an error, and singles by Hatton, Wright and Castiglia scored three BTC runs in the third. Grosman's double scored Trippi, who had singled, with another tally in the fourth.

Baseball Game And Sports Carnival Add To Colorful Ceremony

A SPORTS CARNIVAL on Fetzer Field and a baseball game between Pre-Flight and the University of North Carolina highlighted the second anniversary celebration. On the left is shown Cadet John Pearson, Pre-Flight first baseman, making ready to catch a grounder from Shortstop Arthur Barnes. The throw was late, however, and the Carolina runner was safe. On the right, part of the cadets who participated in the Sports Carnival are shown as they mustered on Fetzer Field.
