Cloudbusters Meet Cherry Point Sunday

Pre-Flighters In Fine Shape For First Game

1944 football for the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight Cloudbusters will officially get underway tomorrow afternoon against the Cherry Point Marines in Kenan Stadium. Kick-off time is slated for 1430 (2:30).

For some six weeks now, the Pre-Flighters have been working out under the watchful eyes of Lieut. Comdr. Glenn Killinger, USNR, head gridiron mentor, and aides, and the team will face its first big test in fine shape.

The backfield is paced by Otto Graham, the All-American from Northwestern, and Spec Sanders, who played on Dana Bible's famous University of Texas team in 1941. The line has such stand-outs as Warren Anderson and Melbourne Sheehan, ends; Gene Flick and Kermit Atkinson, guards, and Joe Partington, center.

Atkinson, who is a former Furman University star, will be the Cloudbusters' captain tomorrow. Anderson is a former Colgate University ace, Sheehan played at the University of Missouri, Flick at the University of Minnesota, and Partington hails from the University of Nebraska.

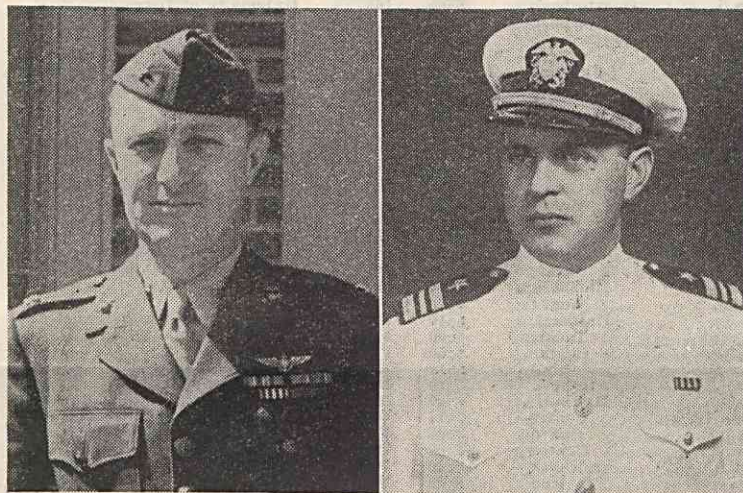

The Cloudbuster starting line will average 192 pounds, while the backfield weighs 182.

Coach Killinger is using the "T" Formation with the quarterback up over the center. It's an exciting game to watch from the spectator point of view.

Notes on the coaching staff: Lieut. Comdr. Killinger is a graduate of Penn State, class of 1921. While in college, he was outstanding in football, baseball and bas-

WAVE Cheerleaders Make Debut At Football Pep Rally

First football pep rally of the season was held in Emerson Stadium immediately after the evening meal yesterday.

Making their debut as Cloudbuster leaders of cheer for the '44 season were WAVES Dora Archer, PhM3c, Marilyn Scholl, HA1c, and Irene Contois, HA2c, along with Cadets Rudolph Bruni, of the 59th Battalion, and Joseph Lesniewski, of the 56th.

Cadets Admitted Free to UNC Game

Pre-Flight School cadets will be admitted free, as guests of the University, to the Carolina-Wake Forest game scheduled for Kenan Stadium this afternoon at 1500. The cadets will be admitted at Gate 5, located on the South side near the West end. The only means of identification required will be the regular uniform of the day.

Cadets accompanied by guests should purchase tickets for the guests at Gate 6. After they enter the stadium they may sit with their guests.

tions officer; and Cadet Kermit Atkinson, Cloudbuster right guard who will serve as team captain for the Cherry Point game.

Marines Slated To Arrive Today For Workout

Coached by Captain Maurice J. (Clipper) Smith and Technical Sergeant Jim McMurdo, the Cherry Point Marines are expected to arrive in Chapel Hill today for tomorrow's game with the Cloudbusters.

Latest reports from Cherry Point indicate that the visitors are in top physical condition, and that their starting eleven will average 192 pounds from end to end and 179 pounds in the backfield.

Pacing the line play will be Sergeant Lafayette King, 195-pound wingman from Macon, Ga., and Corporal Sam Brazinski, 200-pound pivot man and former center for Smith during the latter's final year as head coach at Villanova.

King, a holdover from last season's club, learned his football at the University of Georgia, and as a freshman understudied George Poschner, the Bulldog's All-American flankman in 1942. Brazinski, whose name was shortened to Bray by Eastern sportswriters, played three years of varsity ball at Villanova and his defensive experience,

Special Football Issue

Cadets, officers, and members of the crew are urged to bring their copies of this special football issue of the CLOUD-BUSTER to the game with the Cherry Point Marines tomorrow afternoon. Since no other football program will be available at the game, the CLOUD-BUSTER contains the lineups and pertinent information about teams.
