Both Elevens Risk Undeclared Records Here

Two of the top service teams in the nation will risk their undefeated records in Kenan Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 1430 when the Bainbridge Commodores square off with the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight Cloudbusters. A crowd of 15,000 is expected.

The visitors, who have never lost a game in two years of competition, have such proven ball carriers as Harvey Johnson (William and Mary), Don Durdan (Oregon State), Jim Gatewood (Georgia), Jackie Field (Texas), Harry "Hippity" Hopp (Nebraska), Joe Kane (Pennsylvania), Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice of Asheville High School fame, and a flock of others.

In the line are such standouts as ends Joe Davis of the University of Southern California and Alfred Vandeweghe of William and Mary; tackles Elwood Gerberg, captain of the team and last year on the Mid-Atlantic All-Service Team, Zyggie Czarboski, former All-American at Notre Dame, and Garvin Mugg, who tips the scales at 226 pounds and towers 6 feet 4 inches; guard Len Akin from Baylor University, and center Louis Sossaman, former University of South Carolina stalwart.

That will give you some idea of the power of the visitors. Scouting reports say the team is three deep in every position.

For the most part the Cloudbusters have spent the past week in working on a passing offense to cope with the Commodore's running attack. Also much time was spent on defensive play.

Several new faces will be in the See BAINBRIDGE, page 4
