Football Here

Pre-Flight cadets will not want for football this afternoon just because the Cloudbusters are playing in Georgia. The University of North Carolina meets William and Mary in Kenan Stadium, and all cadets are admitted free, as guests of the University, through Gate 5, located on the South side of the stadium near the West end. The only means of identification required will be the regular uniform of the day.

Cadets accompanied by guests should purchase tickets for the guests at Gate 6. After they enter the stadium they may sit with their guests. The kickoff is slated for 1430.

Comdr. J. P. Graff, Former C.O. Here, Awarded Bronze Star

Naples, Italy—Comdr. John P. Graff, USN (Ret.), former Commanding Officer of the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School at Chapel Hill, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his services in directing a beach battalion during an amphibious operation in Southern France last August, it was announced this week.

The award was authorized by the Commanding General, U. S.

Seventh Army, in the name of the President, and presented at a Mediterranean port by Vice Admiral H. Kent Hewitt, USN, Commander of the U. S. Eighth Fleet.

Comdr. Graff, according to the citation, "personally directed and organized the flow of traffic over the beach, enabling record quantities of men and material to successfully land, thereby contribut-

Revenge Sought By Skycrackers Today At Athens

The battle of the Pre-Flight Schools of Georgia and North Carolina will continue this afternoon at Athens, Georgia, when the Cloudbusters tangle with the Skycrackers in a return game. Previously this year the two teams played in Kenan Stadium with the locals coming out on top, 3 to 0, thanks to Buell St. John's field goal with seven seconds of play time remaining.

On the whole the Cloudbusters will be in better condition this afternoon than they were in their previous game. Backs Frank Aschenbrenner and G. V. Fellabaum, who have been on the sidelines for the past month, will be ready to aid Otto Graham, Stan Koslowski and Bill Wilson in their bid for a second victory. It was Aschenbrenner who scored the winning touchdown (on a lateral from Graham) against the Naval Academy. Fellabaum, a fullback, did outstanding work against Cherry Point and Duke.

Just what will happen this afternoon remains a question mark, but it is certain the Skycrackers will be out for revenge. The game played here saw the visitors do-
