Ringmen Face Tough Evening Against Terps

A hard evening is in store for Coach Ab Young's ringmen when they square off with University of Maryland Terrapins in Woollen gym tonight immediately following the basketball game.

With both Joe Packo and Howard Anunson sidelined with nose injuries suffered in the meet dropped to the tough Cherry Point Marines, 5-2, last Saturday, several cadets will be fighting their first bouts for the 'Busters against the potent Marylanders. A perennial producer of strong ring teams, Maryland this year has another good squad that lost to the unusually tough North Carolina mittmen by a narrow 5-3 margin.

To make a hard job harder, the 'Busters will start the meet with a bout handicap for lack of a fighter in the 120-pound class.

Cadets who will probably represent Pre-Flight tonight are: Jim Calvey, 127 pounds; Al Salkowski, 135 pounds; Byron Hostetler, 145 pounds; W. C. Craigmile, 155 pounds; M. Schumacher, 165 pounds; K. W. Rockstroh, 175 pounds, and Ben Lum, heavyweight.

Schumacher, Rockstroh, and Lum will be in their first fights for the 'Busters.

One of the smoothest ball handlers on the Cloubuster quint is Cadet Dale Leakey, steadily improving guard from Andrews, Ind.

Leakey, who won four letters in basketball and as many in baseball at Andrews high school, started his court career when in the sixth grade. During his senior year in high school Leakey was selected on the all-regional and all-sectional teams and the Andrews team won every game, plus the sectional tournament. Dale averaged about 15 points per game, hitting as high as 24 points in a single contest.

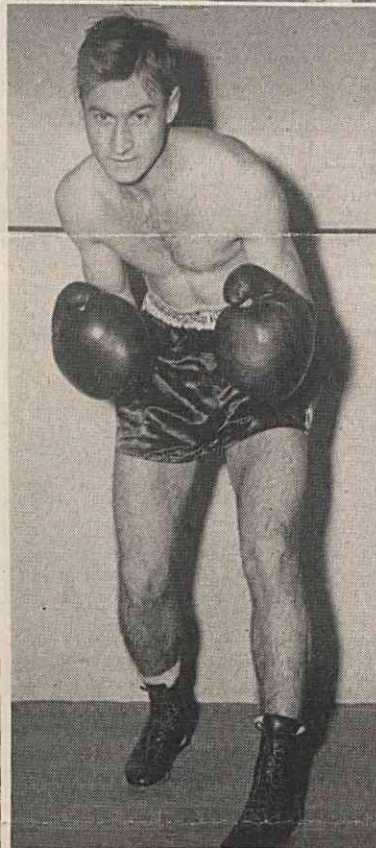

Hobbies? "Well," he says, "a little bit of everything, I guess. My father is a Diesel engineer and I sort of like to fool around with that kind of work, too. I dabbled at construction work during the summer seasons."

Dale has three brothers. One is a staff sergeant in the infantry somewhere in Germany, another is an ensign in the Merchant Marine, and a third soon will enlist in the Navy in hopes of becoming an aircrewman.

They'll Compete This Week-End

Three Pre-Flight athletes who may figure importantly this week-end here in swimming and boxing competition are shown in ready poses. Top left is Cadet A. L. Hausman, 64th Batt, and at right is Cadet Albert Stanley, two Cloubuster tank stars who were scholastic champions. They will swim tomorrow in the Carolinas A.A.U. Open Meet. At bottom is Cadet Al Salkowski, clever 135-pounder, who boxes tonight against the University of Maryland.

Pre-Flight Enters 23 Cadets In AAU Swimming Carnival

Approximately 23 cadets will represent Carolina Pre-Flight tomorrow night in the Sixth Annual Carolinas A.A.U. Swim Meet in Bowman Gray pool and in three special races for servicemen the Cloubusters are conceded good chances.

The first event is scheduled for 1900.

Cadets Stanley and Maas in the 50-meter backstroke, Hausman and Bostwick in the 50-meter free style and Van Wie and Cuniberti in the 50-meter breast stroke will be the standard-bearers in the service races.

Stanley, who held the Iowa State backstroke title, also will compete in the 100-meter A.A.U. event. Dippy, another standout, will be entered in the 400-meter A.A.U. free-style. Cadet C. P. Willis, winner against Duke recently, will dive for Pre-Flight.

Wrestlers Defeat Blue Devils, 19-9

Cloubuster matmen defeated Duke's Southern Conference wrestling champs last Wednesday, 19-9, in the first of two meets between the teams.

Coach S. S. Hollobaugh's grapplers won five of the eight matches, two on falls.

A return meet with the Blue Devils is scheduled for Durham on Feb. 9.

The summary:
121-pound class: Titsworth of Pre-Flight, pinned Miller for five points.
128-pound class: Kusturiss, of Duke, de-

Jax NAS Cagers To Seek Revenge On Woollen Floor

Another standout basketball game, followed by a boxing meet, is scheduled for tonight in Woollen gym when the Cloubusters tackle Jacksonville Naval Air Station in a return engagement, starting at 1930.

In the ring portion of the double-header Coach Ab Young's mittmen will entertain the University of Maryland. The bouts will begin about 2100.

Included among Pre-Flight's 13 victories in 17 games was a 53-to-46 thriller over Jacksonville on Jan. 20 and prospects for another rousing contest are bright.

Georgia Beaten 35-25

This is one of the two home games scheduled for the next few days. On Monday the Cloubusters will entertain Wake Forest.

Coach Dyke Raese's quint won No. 12 last Saturday when the Georgia Pre-Flight Skycrackers were beaten, 35-25, in a slow game. Two nights later, however, the 'Busters ran into a slump and fell before Camp Lejeune Marines, 37-40.

The 'Busters' 13th triumph came Wednesday night when the Edenton Marines were defeated, 65-44, as Dean Meador poured 18 points through the loop. Graham and Leakey each accounted for 12. The score at half-time was 29-17 in favor of Pre-Flight.

Graham Still Top Basket Marksman

Prior to the Edenton game on Wednesday, the scoring race for the Cloubuster quint still found Cadet Otto Graham on top with a total of one hundred ninety-three points. Otto, who missed the first two games of the season, has racked up sixty-four field goals and sixty-five free throws.

In second place is little Dean Meador, with one hundred sixty-six points to his credit.

With 16 games completed, the five leading scorers were:

	GP	FG	FT	TP	Ave.
Graham....	14	64	65	193	14
Meador	15	70	26	166	11
