

Cloudbusters Beat Camp Butner, 10-7, For The 3rd Time

The Cloudbusters continued their dominance over the Camp Butner nine when they defeated the soldiers at Butner last Wednesday, 10 to 7. It was the third meeting of the season between the two teams, and the third win for Pre-Flight.

Charlie Hayne was the winning pitcher for the 'Busters, while Shortstop Hughes led the attack with a double and a pair of singles, the two-bagger coming in the eighth when the locals pushed over four runs to clinch the game.

Last week-end the Cloudbusters split in a two-game series with Camp Lejeune on Emerson Field, to keep the teams on even terms for the season with three wins each in six games played.

An eight-run cluster in the fourth and six more in the fifth gave Pre-Flight an easy 14-2 triumph over the Marines on Saturday. The game was called at the end of seven innings by agreement. Hayne was the winning hurler.

The Marines came back on Sunday to gain a close 4-3 decision by squeezing home the winning marker in top of the ninth on a walk, error, and two bunts. Lowe held the Cloudbusters to six hits and fanned seven, while Ken Olson yielded nine safeties and struck out five for the losers.

Wives May Join Men When Practical

Washington (CNS).—The WD will permit wives and families of servicemen to join their guys in the occupied countries "when conditions permit" according to John W. Martyn, administrative assistant to Secretary Stimson. There are a lot of difficulties, though, says Martyn: shipping requirements for redeployment, shortage of food and housing in Europe, "and unrest in occupied areas."

Lt. (jg) George Grewenow, took over the duties of Chaplain last week. He replaces Lt. Comdr. Eric H. Arendt who is detached for duty afloat.

Celestial navigation entered the academic curriculum here as it replaced mathematics in the classroom program for cadets of the 29th battalion.

The Norfolk Naval Training station nine meets the Cloudbusters here this week. Former teammates, Cadet John Pesky, Dominic DiMaggio and Cadet Ted Williams all of the Boston Red Sox club will meet in this contest. Pesky and Williams play for the Cloudbusters.

Lt. Francis H. Kimbrough, a former coach at Baylor University, has been named head football coach at this station for the ensuing season. Games have been scheduled this year with the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Duke University, and the Pre-Flight school at Athens, Ga., among others.

Lt. (jg) John A. Hassett and cadets John Pesky and Ted Williams lead in batting for the 'Buster nine. With a .472 average, Lt. Hassett has collected 35 hits in 72 trips and has five home runs, three triples and three doubles to his credit.

The first outdoor dance for the cadet regiment was scheduled for July 17th on the paved basketball courts, it was announced this week.

Cinderella Man

Camp Newspaper Service

The resignation of Freddy Fitzsimmons, the old stylish stout, as manager of Philadelphia's forlorn Phillies has made Ben Chapman, the ancient Alabama Arrow, the Cinderella Man of the year.

Chapman, who succeeds Fitz as the Phillies pilot, was running the Piedmont Club in a coffee-and-crumb bun league just a year ago today, a lower depth to which he had descended after 11 stormy years in the majors. Then the erudite Branch Rickey, who was trying to think our Bums out of the second division, bought Ben's contract and installed the former outfielder and base-stealing specialist in Flatbush as a pitcher.

There Ben remained until June of this year when Rickey traded him to the Phillies for a bag of meal and a catcher. Chapman didn't exactly throw his hat into the air and clap his feet together at this deal, which removed him from the roster of a first-place club and placed him on that of a hopelessly mired cellar-dwelling outfit, but he did turn up at Shibe Park and ask for a uniform, which turned out to be one of the smartest moves of his life. For within a week he was the manager.

There are better spots in baseball, of course, than manager of the Phillies. But manager of the Piedmont Club in the Cracker Barrel League isn't one of them. You're a lucky fellow, Mr. Ben.

Dainty Bather

Miles City, Mont. (CNS).—Mrs. Gladys Wilson stepped daintily into the bath tub, and hopped right out again, not so daintily. Her son had put an 18-inch catfish in first.

Regimental Title Won by 70th Batt With 300 Points

Taking firsts in Academics and Class Athletics, the 70th Battalion of Lieut. C. A. Robinson rolled up a total of 300 points to win the regimental title in the battalion competition ending last week.

The 67th Battalion, under Lieut. A. C. Bauer, took honors in Military, while Lieut. C. F. Carpenter's 68th finished ahead in the Sports Program.

The 68th tallied a total of 147 points in the 27th Sports Program finals held last Friday evening at Fetzter Field and Kessing Pool. Teams representing that battalion won the volley ball event, took a 38-30 decision in wrestling, copped the swimming meet, 51-27, but lost by a 5-4 margin in boxing and a 3-0 verdict in soccer.

Just Couldn't Wait For His First Kiss

Boston (CNS).—When Wacs aboard a welcoming tug shouted to an incoming transport, "Come on over and get a kiss," S/Sgt. Tommy Carpenter lost no time. He slid down a hawser, swam through the churning waters, and reached the arms of Pvt. Mary Delage. Mary made good, and so did all the other girls. The papers did not report the official Army reaction to all this.

Beats Hara-Kiri

Darien, Conn., (CNS).—A woman phoned her minister, told him she was going to commit suicide, then drank what the medical examiner called "enough whiskey for six people." It killed her all right, but what a way to die!

Things Are Tough

Newark, N. J. (CNS).—Things are tough in Newark. Police raided an opium den here and discovered that all the patrons had been required to bring their own dope.
