HORN TO OPEN 10c STORE HERE

Independent Five and Ten Cent Store, to be Operated by J. C. Horn, Being Built

Mr. J. C. Horn of Washington, N. C., associated for 14 years with F. W. Woolworth Company until the past January, has been in Spring Hope for two weeks renovating the building formerly occupied by Short Collie.

Mr. Horn is making preparations for starting a five and ten cent store here. The business will be entirely independent, he says, owned and operated by him and not connected with any chain of stores. He plans to offer the community the same merchandise at the same prices as that handled by the chain stores.

He hopes in the near future to bring his wife and child to Spring Hope to make his home here permanently if business justifies.

With his experience with Woolworth Company, Mr. Horn is expected to give Spring Hope a store that will be a credit to any town, regardless of size. Opening specials to be offered by the store will be announced in an early issue of this paper.

Mr. Horn has been living at the home of Dr. H. Brantley for the past two weeks and boarding with Mrs. W. O. Saunders.

Bolt Kills Mule At Taylor's Store

J. N. Taylor out at Taylor's Store has been having tough luck. Lightning during the storm Monday killed one of his mules, a hog and a chicken. A team of mules had been led into the stable out of the rain and were standing in harness. The effect of lightning bolt killed one without touching the other. The shock killed a chicken in the feed trough and one of two pigs nearby. The other pig was paralyzed.

Wednesday of last week Mr. Taylor's house barely missed being burned by a fire which destroyed his smoke house, his woodshed and another small building. The fire started in the woodshed.

While everyone else was trying to prevent the house from catching fire, a Mr. Johnson, road superintendent, saved four shoulders and a ham from the smokehouse. Though the firetruck which started out from Nashville broke down on the way, the firemen reached the scene and were able to keep the house from catching.

Cases of Assault Fill Court Docket

Judge L. L. Davenport disposed of a docket largely composed of assault cases in recorder's court at Nashville Monday.

Charlie Warbritten, charged with assault with a deadly weapon was sentenced to 18 months on the county roads but appealed to Superior Court. His bond was fixed at $200. He also appealed and the same amount of bond was fixed in another case, in which Warbritten was found guilty of possession of whiskey for sale. In that case he was sentenced to 18 months on the county roads, to run concurrently with his other sentence.

Sister Carter, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was found guilty of simple assault and judgment was suspended on condition she pay cost.

Obie Cone, who was tried July 8 for assault with a deadly weapon and for whom prayer for judgment was continued until yesterday, received a sentence of 6 months on the roads, sentence suspended on condition he pay $50 to Henry Pace and cost. Pace was involved in the altercation from which the charge arose.

A case against James Privette, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, was continued until September 14.

Earthy Cooper was given 60 days in the county jail for assault with a deadly weapon.

Odell Murray was fined $50 and cost for driving while drunk, but appealed to the Superior Court. His bond was set at $150.

James Harris was granted a nol pros with leave. He was charged with driving drunk and driving without proper brakes.

Jack Langley was found not guilty of possession of whiskey for sale. Prayer for judgment was continued in the case of Leonard Brown who was found guilty of driving while drunk.

SIDELIGHTS

by
BURT JOHNSON

Just another week in New York, but I've had a very little time to get out and see very much. In the very first place, I have been able after all to see some Pasture, and even "Green Pastures", and I'm sure it would equal both beauty or value of any of Mr. I. B.'s permanent ones.

Thursday afternoon I went down to Radio City Music Hall, the "show place of the nation" at Rockefeller Center and saw the picture in its preview showing as a motion in New York. To describe the picture would take but one word, wonderful. But there is something about it that makes something run up and down your spine. "De Lawd" was portrayed by Rex Ingram. When this picture comes south be sure you see it. There is something about it that makes you think—Yes, think Lord.

Now about the Music Hall—It's the largest Theatre in the world, and you can't take it all in at once. I spent an hour in the lobbies, one of which is located 50 feet below the street level. Each of these (five in all) look like a mansion in themselves.

After entering the main hall (I was up on the third floor) you marvel at its size, the wonderful control sound and the lighting effects, which are said to be the most wonderful in the world.

Just a word about the program. All you men would like to see the Rockettes, the 24 most perfectly trained dancers in the world—and the only good looking girls in New York so far as I've been able to see. (We all should be proud of the beauty of our southland). They went through their dance with perfect precision as if only one was dancing. Then, suddenly a 50 piece orchestra comes from out of the floor, plays its part, and disappears with the same ease. Well I could go on all day. You come and see it. I'll be looking for Cecil, Wiley and Oppie next week to see the Rockettes.

Last night I saw, "Dead End", the most famous play now in Broadway, and the greatest children's play that has been produced. Its setting was based in East Side New York at the Piers and there it shows the slum and gang life of boys and the past that adults could have upon them, especially for the worse. Every mother and father should see this play. But be sure and visit East Side New York before you see it. Another note—(Don't sit in the third balcony in the Belasco Theatre if you want to see the stage. I had to stand up for 2 and one half hours — Pity I couldn't sit down in the $2.50 seats).

By the way—"On Your Toes", a musical comedy and it cost me $1.65 too, was fine. I know C. T. and O. B. would enjoy seeing it, not to mention Hobart, Edgar, Alfred, and Zeb. Then to, it had an appeal for the ladies, for the costumes were beautiful, simply beautiful. Some of the prettiest

Seven Hundred At Farm Bureau Dinner

LIONS WILL AID COUNTY BLIND

Club adopts projects to aid blind, distribute moral codes and hold craft talks

Members of the Lions Club enthusiastically adopted three proposed projects at the Lions dinner Tuesday night.

Mr. Sam Alford of Henderson, district director of the Lions International and member of the state commission to aid the blind was the principal speaker. He spoke on Lionism and means of aiding the blind.

Aiding the blind of Nash county was the principal project proposed and was unanimously accepted. Plans for a specific constructive plan of aid to worthy blind citizens of the county were outlined and are being developed, to be announced when arrangements have been completed.

Anyone who knows a deserving blind person in the county is asked to communicate with Hobart Brantley, president of the club.

As another project, the Lions will place a moral code for school children in every school room in the county.

It was also voted that a three-minute craft talk be given at each meeting of the club by one of the members. The speaker in each case will be selected by drawing lots among the members.

Many Make Plans For Encampment

(By Effie Vines Gordon
Home Demonstration Agent)

The Nash County Encampment will be held at Camp Leach on the Pamlico River, August 4th to 9th. The enrollment is already very large, and all who are eligible are urged to apply immediately if they expect to attend. It is earnestly requested that no one goes to camp unless they make written application and are expected.

In order for any boy or girl to be allowed to attend, they must be 4-H Club Members, and either have their project up to date or they must have handed in their record or report of work done. If there are any boys or girls who were former members and who have been away to college, they may by application be admitted.

Inscoe Returns From Hospital

L. S. Inscoe, superintendent of the county schools, returned to his home in Nashville Monday morning after an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Inscoe went to the Sanatorium in Rocky Mount for the appendectomy July 9. His friends were surprised to see him come down to his office Monday afternoon.

MERCHANTS CONTRIBUTE

(By J. S. Sugg)

The first annual Farm Bureau dinner held Wednesday of last week was deemed by the Board of Directors to be a great success. I want to take this privilege as County Agent and as a member of the Farm Bureau to express my appreciation to the merchants of Nashville and adjoining cities who contributed to the huge success of this dinner.

Congressman Harold D. Cooley, G. F. Holsinger, President of the Virginia Farm Bureau, J. F. Criswell, Head Field Officer, for Soil Conservation Program and E. F. Arnold, State A. F. B. F. Secretary, were the speakers who addressed a crowd of approximately 700 farmers.

I also want to express my appreciation to the Farm Bureau members who attended this meeting and who helped to display their ability to put on and make a success of an undertaking of this size. According to statements made by Farm Bureau members present those who failed to come missed one of the most enjoyable meetings that has been held in this county in many years. We hope to make this an annual affair which will grow larger each year.

Mr. C. L. Sams, Bee Specialist, from State College, and I visited A. H. Farmer, Bailey, N. C., A. F. Glover, Bailey, N. C., R. 2, Amos Griffin, Bailey, N. C., R. 2, L. C. Earp, Bailey, N. C., R. 2, R. A. Finch, Bailey, N. C., R. 2, and F. R. Joyner, Elm City, N. C., R. 2, honey producers of this county. We found the hives in very good condition and working vigorously.

Held a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Soil Conservation Association and appointed supervisors for this county. E. B. Sellers, Jr., former Assistant in Cotton Adjustment, was elected Treasurer of the Association and county compliance supervisor.

Woman's Society Renovates Church

The Woman's Missionary Society has just finished improvements in the Gibson Memorial Methodist Church here.

With funds raised by the society the Sunday School rooms, vestibule and worship rooms on the main floor have all been painted. New floors and wainscoting have been installed in some of the rooms and some portions have been plastered. The Missionary Society has the appreciation of the entire congregation for these improvements.
