Lima Bean Scallop Basis Of Supper Menu

It's inexpensive and easy to prepare. Here is an evening-meal menu which you can serve either as a buffet or a sit-down supper. It consists of lima bean scallop, green salad, relishes, hot rolls, homemade apple pie with cheese, and coffee.

For Lima Bean Scallop—

- 1 pound quick-cooking lima beans, dried
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 cups boiling water
- 1 12-ounce can luncheon meat cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 green pepper, diced
- ¼ cup margarine
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
- 1 can condensed tomato soup

Take beans, wash and drain. Turn into deep pot. Add salt, boiling water. Simmer until tender, or about 1 hour. Drain. Saute onions and green pepper until tender. Take from skillet and add to drained beans.

Lightly brown meat, combine with bean mixture. Add salt and tabasco sauce. Mix. Arrange in baking dish. Mix together condensed soup with enough liquid to make 2 cups. Pour over bean mixture. Bake in oven at 325 degrees for 1 hour.

The No. 1 cutting menace in today's kitchens is the old-fashioned can opener, according to safety observers. Housewives are advised to replace the old type of can opener with the safer, rotary-type that has no dangerous cutting edges and leaves smooth edges that will not endanger the hand.

Knives, another hazard, should be washed separately, not with the dishes. Store them in a slotted rack or drawer. The correct knife should be used for a specific job. A sharp knife is safer than a dull one because it takes less pressure to make it cut.

Flavorful cooked prunes mixed with quartered orange slices make a tasty breakfast fruit. With a jar of cooked prunes handy in the refrigerator, you can get this ready for the table quickly.

It makes for better and safer living when you pick up, clean up, put away in their proper place objects which you use and find everyday around the house. This includes children's toys which are left on the floor or furniture; kitchen and eating utensils not put away after use; newspapers and trash not properly disposed of; tools and toys, like bikes and wagons, left around outside the house; objects left on the stairs. It takes a lot less effort to have some order to your home than to live in a mess. Try it and see. By avoiding confusion, you are taking a sure way to avoid accidents.

Leave High Speed To Rocket Ships

One of these days not far off, rocket ships carrying human passengers are apt to take off for the moon and other heavenly bodies in outer space. And at staggering speed.

What a fearful thought, as we look about us and see that we have not yet learned to control the automobile. The time is ripe that we learned to put some sense into our earthbound driving.

Mix together lower speeds, more concentration and alertness of drivers, add a generous helping of courtesy, and you'll go a long way toward making every day of the year a safe driving day.

By eliminating carelessness, recklessness and bad manners on the road, you'll help yourself to a longer, safer and more pleasant life.

Most accidents do not just happen. They are caused by speed, driving on the wrong side of the road, recklessness and other driving errors.

By reducing speeds, motorists could save countless lives. By staying alert, pedestrians can help save their own. Walk and drive carefully. Give a thought to your own safety and the safety of others.

CHAMPIONS AT MID-SEASON

Honors at the midway point of the bowling season went to the Spooling-Winding team, when members of that group earned a record as top-scoring keglers among women at the plant. From back to front: Nell Bolick, Cloe McDaniel, Betty Queen, Jean Bailey and Dorcas Atkinson. The half-way point, reached in late December, represented 30 games of play in 10 matches. In late January, Personnel was leading the scoring among women's teams in the second half of the season.

Brotherhood Observance February 17-24

"Brotherhood for peace and freedom—that people shall live as one family of man" is this year's theme for the national observance of Brotherhood Week. February 17-24 is scheduled for the 24th consecutive emphasis on human understanding and tolerance, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In more than 3,000 communities across America millions of citizens will work to further the brotherhood ideal. Radio, television, newspapers and other mass media will promote the cause. Schools, churches, civic groups, clubs and other organizations will join in the observance.

Locally, special programs have been scheduled in keeping with Brotherhood Week.

THIS YEAR Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, is national chairman of Brotherhood Week. Last year, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Company Chairman, served as national Brotherhood chairman. F. B. Galligan, Superintendent of the Cotton Division at the Gastonia plant, is typical of individuals of the Company who are active in Brotherhood Week promotion. Last year he was Gaston County chairman of the observance.

The NCCJ, sponsor of Brotherhood Week, was founded in 1928. A weekly observance was suggested in 1934 by Monsignor Hugh McMenamin, a Catholic priest of Denver, who proposed that the NCCJ organize a special program wherein the people of all religious groups in the United States would be free to consider together the need of the implications of the brotherhood ideal.

Now, for almost a quarter century, the NCCJ has sponsored the program. The President of the United States is Honorary Chairman.

BROTHERHOOD Week is only a part of the work of the NCCJ, which is a civic organization engaged in an educational program for improving human relations every day in the year. It enlists Protestants, Catholics, and Jews who—without compromise of conscience of their distinctive and important religious differences — work together to build better relationships among men of religions, races and nationalities.

Scholarships

scholarships will be awarded on the basis of proportionate Firestone employment of applicants' parents, assuring that children of all employees will have equal opportunity.

The plan is set up to fulfill the Company's intention to provide scholarship aid to each recipient through the normal four-year period required to complete studies for a regular college degree. All grants are awarded on an annual basis and the yearly renewal of each scholarship is dependent upon the student's maintaining a satisfactory scholastic and personal record in school.

Applicants are carefully processed by an impartial group of judges, so as to select the best qualified students for the awards. Scholarships are issued on the basis of high school grades, psychological test scores and qualities of character and leadership evidenced in the applicant's high school and community life.

Gastonia Winners

As of February, 1957, the holders of Firestone scholarships have enrolled at 79 separate colleges and universities. Of this number, 5 scholarship holders have been from Firestone Textiles families. First award winner, in 1953, was Claudette Taylor, now Mrs. Ralph Kaylor. She will graduate from Duke University in June.

In 1954, Carl Stewart, Jr., received the award here. He is in his Junior year at Duke. In 1955, Bobby E. Sellers was the winner, and is now a sophomore at N. C. State College. Last year there were two winners: Michael Stroupe, now at N. C. State College; and Peggy Davis, at High Point College.
