

From ORF comes pictorial happenings of that outpost, chronicled by Don Player, who advises that "we lost Ray Moore the last of August". He decided to go back to being a bookworm again. He is now going to N. C. State. Had a letter the other day and he says it isn't any pushover.

Shown above, in the group of pictures, are top row, from left: Jim "the boss" Humphreys, and Miss Dot Peele talking over one of the fine weekends she just had down at Nags Head, N. C., where she spends a lot of her summer hours. See those smiles. I will buy you a coke when you don't find them there.

Next, reporter Don Player, whom I'm sure all you old timers know. Here's hoping to meet and know a lot of you new ones in the near future. On the end, Mrs. Jane Wilkins is shown helping just a few of the passengers we had at our ticket counter on Labor Day weekend. We will have you know we boarded 132 that day, with the help of two extra sections.

In the lower group, from left, Mrs. Lichtenhal, known better to us as Eva, just one of our many girls. Oh, lucky me, Jim and I are the only guys around and he doesn't count as he has three at home, all redheads. Next, the three hard-working girls you see are left to right, Miss Dot Nelson, Miss Helen Delasco and Miss Anne Knight. Miss Knight was chosen to appear on the cover of last week's NAVY GUIDE, a weekly pamphlet, to show the sailors what to do when ashore in Norfolk.

Miss Milly Wilcher, next, in one of her slack moments, who was going to take in the sights of New Orleans on her vacation, but changed her mind at the last minute. In the lower photo, this young lady is on her way up in Piedmont. She is Miss Joan "Bill" Bailey who has been with us three weeks. We hope she continues to like her work.

So, now that summer is over and all the vacations are a thing of the past, we can start worrying about next year.

PAI PIN-UPS

Sally Stork flew high and ranged wide over PAI system last month, with Jack Gilbert, INT purser, reporting a lusty boy, Michael Gray, and Dick Sorrells, IMN purser, another boy.
