

Bill and his wife of 15 years standing, Ruth, live in the same house in which Bill was born. He's as genial and likeable a fellow as you're likely to meet, and you'll find he's an excellent instructor. Fixed Base is mighty lucky to get an instructor with Bill's ability and personality!

"DANNY THE DEVIL" cartoon is a product of the facile pen of Sarah Bollinger, CAA, INT-F. We think she's "terriff"! You'll see more of Danny in future issues.

FIXED BASE FLASHES

Much excitement was created when we had a C-124 land here on the field. This "Globemaster" is one of the largest operational cargo planes in use today, and not only will it carry 200 passengers, but trucks, jeeps, and various heavy equipment is flown in it. Your reporter was one of the more fortunate ones who got up inside, although I must confess, I only made it to the first landing. Was a little afraid to go higher, as it was absolutely straight up a ladder, and my fortitude wouldn't permit such a climb. In the rear of the airplane is a freight elevator, for loading equipment up to the second deck. This airplane is surely a masterpiece of design and is quite a credit to the aviation industry.

Mr. Northington attended the Southeastern Airport Managers Association Meeting with Zeke Saunders at Virginia Beach, Va. Both were guest speakers. Immediately upon Mr. Northington's return, he and Joe Culler left for the annual Distributors Meeting at the Piper Aircraft factory in Lock Haven.

We are really glad to see Norman Bradley back on Line Maintenance again. Norman was quite sick and in the hospital for several weeks, but glad to say he is now feeling well again and back on the job with all his usual pep.

Henry Winfrey is also back on Line Maintenance, after spending a couple of years in the Army. Nice to have you back with us, Henry.

Bill O'Neal is still hunting for some more girls for that fabulous course in flight instruction. Although several have now enrolled, why don't a few more of you join up, and make a real good showing. This is one sure way to popularity, girls, and why not take advantage of it!!!

All of us here at Fixed Base are going to miss Carolyn Manos, who is quitting, after being in our Operations Office for about five years. Carolyn has done a fine job, and it is going to be hard to find someone to take her place.

See you next issue!

ANSWER TO THIS MONTH'S BRAIN TEASER

Two cannibals go across, one comes back, picks up other cannibal, comes back again. Two explorers row across, leave one, pick up one cannibal, come back, leave cannibal, pick up other explorer, row across. Send cannibal back, pick up cannibal, take him across, return, pick up other cannibal. Simple, isn't it?

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH

Once there was a man who did his job - and nothing more. He was the last man at work, first to leave. An office boy did his job - and something more. He learned all he could, tried his best - and succeeded. Guess who's president of the Company today!
