

Young Scott Ryckzek, son of Station Manager Walter Ryckzek, HTS, proudly shows teacher, Mrs. Geo. Muller, the results of his gardening efforts. It all began a year ago Halloween when the first graders prepared a jack-o-lantern. Scott, along with the other members of his class, took home some of the left over pumpkin seeds and kept them until Spring. One seed survived the winter. Scott planted it and the result was a pumpkin stalk that grew . . . and grew . . . and grew. The plant spread through his mother's flower garden, across the yard, through the fence, into a neighbors yard and finally to the kitchen — where it became a pie!

W. G. McGee shows Piedmont's latest class of stewardesses a model of the F-27 that the girls will now be flying. The November 25 graduates are, left to right, Judith W. Hurlburt, Phyllis J. Long, (W. G. McGee), Patricia A. Bockock, Carolyn A. Fife, Donna M. Besaw, and Sandra J. Keelys.

PIEDMONITOR

PIX

Freda Zappia, Credit Union office manager, pauses before beginning the first leg of a trip that will take her to Bombay, India, where she will attend the Eucharistic Congress. She will join Cardinal Cushing's tour, and in addition to journeying to Bombay, will also visit Egypt and the Holy Lands.

Tom Brator, Joe Ridge, and Max McKinnon watch as Mary Nell Carson demonstrates a function of INT's IBM facilities. The men are members of the National Association of Accountants and are part of the Piedmont Chapter's tour group. The association selected Piedmont Aviation as the first of two tour sites for the current year.

Stewardess Sonya Anthony and Station Manager Bob Hill are shown presenting a flight bag to Charleston's 3000th passenger in October.