

Piedmont employees have been active in recent Ruritan Club Activities. Top, Tri-Cities Station Manager Bill Cash and Agents Bill Hamilton and Dick Miller are shown at the 35th National Convention in Philadelphia, where Eddie Rickenbacker was the chief speaker. Below, Milt Ward, Pulaski Station Manager, participates in groundbreaking ceremonies for the National Headquarters to be located in Dublin. Left to right, Richard Mady, District Governor; Tom Downing; Milt Ward, and Russell Burgess, Bub Walsh, and Curtis Graham, past Ruritan presidents.

City Sales Manager Andy Foster sees Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Caldwell safely aboard flight 50 out of INT. The famous author, in Winston-Salem for a talk at Wake Forest College, said that writing was partly luck, partly talent, and a great deal of hard work. He stated, "I start with a story . . . a good plot. Any message is incidental." The author also predicted a swing from the "four letter" novels of today to good old rousing story telling.

Piedmonitor Pix

Al Anness, lead agent CVG, is awarded the nine inch Sony television set he won in the American Airlines Astrovision Sweepstakes. Left to right are Bob Fletcher, AA reservations manager, Anness, Matt Hofstettler, AA district sales manager, and Ed Laskowski, station manager, CVG.

Wilmington, N. C. taps pretty Piedmont stewardesses for beauty displays. Nancy Vaught poses for this front page shot, "Bringing in the New Year," for the Wilmington Star News. Nancy Rowland, Phyllis Long, and Doris Hardison make a lovely window display for a local department store in downtown Wilmington.