And He Calls Himself a Hermit

"I feel 50 years younger already," declared Dad Jowett, seventy-five-year-old World war veteran of Jackass Mountain, Ore. He had gone to Miami, Fla., for the sixteenth national convention of the American Legion. He is a self-styled hermit up Oregon way but lost his status when Paula Roberts and Frances Jones, local bathing beauties, came out to greet him. "This must be the fountain of youth," said Jowett.

Flag at Pinnacle of Washington Shaft

With the last support in place, and the final bolt tightened in the structure, Old Glory was placed atop the scaffolding that has been built about the 555-foot shaft that is the Washington monument in the National Capital, and the work of renovating, repairing and refurbishing the great obelisk now goes forward. The erection of the scaffolding was a major engineering feat.

The Drago Doctrine

When in the winter of 1902-03 Germany, Britain and Italy blockaded the ports of Venezuela in an attempt to make the latter country settle its debts, Dr. L. F. Drago, a noted jurist of Argentina, maintained that force cannot be used by one power to collect money owing to its citizens by another power. Prominence was given to the contention by the fact that it was officially upheld by Argentina and favored by other South American republics. The principle embodied has become generally known as the Drago doctrine.

Wrong Impression of "Doctoring" in China

The belief that in China the people do not pay their doctors when they are sick but only while they keep them well, has been shown to be false by writers on China. In a recent article in the New Outlook a writer gives an account of their system of medicine, which he says he has always thought one of the best. Each doctor is a specialist, with a single prescription supposed to cure everything. When a member of a family gets sick, the family calls in as many doctors as they can afford to pay. He adds that this incidentally bursts forever the untruth that Chinese doctors are paid to keep the patient fit. The correspondent says that when several of these doctors are called in, each with their different prescriptions, a necromancer is summoned to choose which of these prescriptions shall be employed. If successful, the doctor and necromancer share the praise; if unsuccessful, the blame is shifted from the doctor to the necromancer and from him to the "will of heaven."

THIS CHANGE gives Children a Chance

Perhaps you have tried nearly every sort of way to keep a child's bowels in proper condition, and failed.

Yet, almost any child who has been convalescing in a hospital, will usually come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch.

The average mother gives any laxative the family may be using, while doctors give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

Make the change now to pure, California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too. Those little upsets and complaints just disappear and the child is soon normal again. Try it!

THE "LIQUID TEST." First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is the pure California Syrup of Figs, but be sure the word "California" is on the bottle.
