northwestern Colorado. The animal, crazed by the lasso that was tied to the cowboy's saddle horn, dragged horse and rider over the rim of a great chasm. A sturdy pinon tree grew on the edge of the cliff and the rope caught around this long enough for Lynch to throw himself clear. His horse hung on one end of the lasso and the steer on the other. There they swung like lead toys on a stick. Then, as the rope broke under their com-bined weights, they plunged into but he slowly worked his way along the shelf until at last he found a ledge just below. Slowly, he slid down and fell into soft sand. All about him were the ruins of ancient cliff houses that no white man had ever seen. The remains of a man-made trail led around a corner of the rock wall and Lynch climbed to safety.

He told his story, but at that time the cattlemen were not interested in the crumbling bits of an ancient civilization. In 1933, however, a small exploring party went into the region. The government has now reserved this area as the

Triplets Bless Mother Buffalo

There was a good deal of milling, pawing, snorting, among Catalina land's buffalo herd—all because of a rapid series of blessed events to rs. Bill Buffalo. Triplets among buffalo are almost as rare as quintuplets nong humans, 'tis said. The triplets are fathered by Mr. Bill Buffalo, so imp-backed with pride he wouldn't pose with his family.

Somewhere in Nebraska the Mor-mon leader pushed on to find the best route, leaving the slower-mov-ing wagons behind to follow along the trail which he would mark out for them. One of these parties was in charge of a young fellow named William Clayton. A long road and weary road it was for the westward-faring homeseekers. Their goal seemed so far distant and they probably pestered young William Clayton a great deal with their questions of "How far have we come today?" So, being an ingenious young man, he devised a way to answer. He measured a mile on the trail that they traversed one day, then marked a wagon wheel at a certain point on its circumference. Keeping his eye on the marked spoke he counted its revolutions to the mile. Next he devised a ratchet which moved a cogwheel that registered accurately the distance the caravar traveled daily. That same principle is used in speedometers today. . . . SLOGANS

FOR QUILTS By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

CUTTING PATCHES

When making a patch quilt the patches must be cut out right if the finished quilt is to look neat. Sewing seams the same width is also very important. These two points should always be watched as work progresses, to obtain good results, and not have trouble after work is well under way. Cut the patches from accurate cut-out diagrams. The cutout diagrams shown here are a set for the "Dresden Plate" and "Basket" quilts, and include allowance for seams. Any width for seams may be used but always use the same width in one quilt, to come out right. Directions for use are very simple. Place cut-out on material so the longest dimension follows the weave. Mark outline with pencil and "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too!" re minded the nation that Gen. William Henry Harrison had won an important Indian battle at the beginning of a war which was none too well-filled with land victories for the American arms. So the Indiana frontiersman went to the White House.

"Fifty-four Forty or Fight!" In was crystallized the dissatisfaction of Americans over a proposed treaty with England, establishing a boundary line in the Oregon country. True, we later compromised on the forty-ninth parallel of lati-tude, far south of fifty-four forty, but the slogan had already sent James K. Polk to Washington.

Gran's "Let us have peace" has been called "the minimum in ex-pressiveness" but it helped elect him President and during the next eight years that phrase had an ironical sound to the South, suffering under the Reconstruction regime. "He kept us out of war" helped re-elect Woodrow Wilson in 1916 but within one month after he was inaugurated we were in the war

"The full dinner pail" appealed to enough Americans to make them elect William McKinley. Later they and their sons wanted to "get back to normalcy" with Warren G. Harding and soon thereafter they were willing to "Keep cool with Coolidge."

So . . . "See America First," find out what phrases will tickle the fancy of its people. Then get a slogan and go to Washington as Presi-
