Hancock States FHA Total Flop

epresentative Says Housing Admin-istration Has Done Nothing For North Carolina

Washington, Nov. 4.—Federal Housing administration in North Carolina is 'a complete flop,' accord-ing to Representative Frank W. Han-cock of Oxford, who is in Washing-ton. Asked for details, Hancock con-

If suppose Mr. Suiter, who is handling things for the present, is doing the best he can, but upon the whole the housing administration has done nothing for North Carolina, In the first place, the people in charge of affairs of the FHA in North Carolina devote more time attending to their new person. FHA in North Carolina devote more time attending to their own personal affairs than they do that of the government. Again, it is almost impossible to make a loan, and the banks have never been convinced of the feasibility of the system. Their cooperation is necessary before anything can be accomplished.

They have done some real work "They have done some real work in the State. The problem with the HOLC just at this time, however, is working out an easy plan for carrying loans so that the people can meet them. The corporation must co-operate with the people who have borrowed money, because they were in a distressed condition as to their homes when they made loans, and they must be dealt with in reason.' Asked about the report that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator next apring against Senator Josiah W.

He did not deny that he was considering entering the race. During the afternoon, Mr. Han-cock conferred with officials of the AAA as to the tobacco situation and said he found them 'well pleased with the price tobacco is bringing in North Carolina.'

Record of 1935 is now estated at $6,800,000,000 by the Bulareau of Agricultural Economics. This is one hundred million dollars more than earlier estimates, $413,000,000 more than last year and the largest total in five years.

Among other reasons for the increase, the Bureau lists a "greater than seasonal improvement in the incomes of industrial workers." This should be interesting to farmers, emphasizing as it does the inter-relationship between the buying power of workers and the sale of agricultural products.

The story itself is built somewhat around the life of Dr. Dafoe, little North Country medics who brought the babies into the world and has cared for them since. But the doctors said he hadn't "been advised" as to whether he will act in the film.

Southern cotton planters and other Americans who have worried over the loss of our export market for cotton, will be interested in a recent dispatch from Brazil, telling of the creation of a Cotton Export institute and of the financing of cotton planters by the government on planters by the government there.

While planters in Brazil have nercorore finenced their own crops, this year the yield fell short and depleted their resources. The banks were unprepared to advance loans and the government plans to carry the planters for the present. Evidently, Brazil finds some difficulties in the way of surveyristing the extent. in the way of appropriating the cotton markets of the world.

Along the line of the interdependence of farmers and workers we call attention to a recent statement of George T. Hughes, a special writer on financial topics. He says:

"Whatever may be thought of the "Whatever may be thought of the economic soundness of Government aid to the farmer it is still true that the purchasing power of the agricultural districts has been enlarged and the benefits have not been confined to the raual population, but have extended to the industrial sections as well.

"Certainly one great industry has been stimulated by the improve-ment in the position of the farmer. The increase in sales of automobiles consumers in the rural districts has been larger proportionately than the gain in distribution in the country as a whole, and that can be explained only by increased farm buying power. Probably the same is true of the mail-order business and of the agricultural implement industry.

David A. Croll, Ontario Minister of Welfare and special guardian to the girls, announced his approval of a contract between Twentieth Century-Fox Films and the guardians of the quintuplets for the babies to play in a picture called "The Country Doctor,"

The film, it was announced, will be based to some extent on the life of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the little grey-haired doctor who attended the quintuplets at birth.

Whether Dr. Dafoe would act was not known, but unofficial information was that his work would be confined to supervising any scenes in which his charges appeared.

Croll did not indicate the salaries of the quintuplets.

Auto Tragedies Require Thought

Much is being written about the terrible tragedies that are taking place daily throughout the United States and among which North Carolina has the record of being the chiefest.

A citizen of Pitt county disclosed the fact Saturday in conversation that his county on Friday had been the scene of five such tragedies. Five people had lost their lives and our informant was indeed troubled over the situation.

There is a cause for it and heretofore we have dealt with it purely as a problem of negligence. We admit that there is great negligence and that those responsible for this negligence should receive correction. But there is something more fundamentl in this than negligence. You may take the reckless driver's license away from him and the next day somebody is killed by somebody that is recognized as not being negligent. It is classed as an accident and it may be purely an accident, but a condition exists which is causing our population to lose their lives at an unprecedented rate. So a condition exists in North Carolina and throughout the nation which is destroying the lives of our people and we need something more than criminal statutes on the books.

If it is speed that causes it, could not that be corrected? It is a problem that needs the most serious and careful study throughout the country. We have got to do something more than pass criminal statutes.

POLITICS IN FHA?

Congressman Frank Hancock in a recent statement peaking of the Federal Housing Administration that so far the whole thing had been a flop. It is hoped now that since the appointment has been made that the public may receive real benefit from this agency set up by the government in the interest of home ownership.

We are compelled to agree with the Congressman in his statement for up to now there has not been much accomplished by this agency.

If politics have been the cause of the delay then it is a pity that the people have to suffer by reason of political differences.

The relief was not intended to build the political organizations out of though we are told that not even a stenographer can get a job to write a few letters or to do any kind of secretarial work until she has the senatorial indorsement. Now if the heads of these great organizations the ERA and WPA and PWA are qualified to run and spend all the millions which pass through their hands, then it does look like they ought to select and help on merit and not to build their political machines or props by political candidates.

BORAH'S POSITION DENOUNCES OLD GUARD POLITICIANS INTERESTED RFC MAKES $110,000,000 NEW DEAL VALUES AAA REPUBLICAN PROBLEM ROOSEVELT ON JOB HUNT

By Hugo Sims, Special Washington Correspondent

Senator Borah has declared war on the Republican Old Guard in no uncertain terms, insisting that the Party nominate a Liberal candidate and outlining a "better deal" to oppose President Roosevelt. The Idaho Senator plans to fight in the presidential primaries, in the platform committee and in the convention of his party to prevent the Old Guard from naming the candidate.

He believes that if the Old months while Mr. Spradlin is receiver for the defunct Peoples National Bank of Winston-Salem.

Senator Reynolds, whose man landed the second best job, cabled a reluctant assent from the Phillipine Islands on the ground that there is "imperative need" for bettering present administration of the law in North Carolina.

Mr. Borah has always remained within the Republican fold regardless of which faction controlled his party. Even when the late Theodore Roosevelt bolted and formed the Progressive Party, launching a minimum of the control of the con spirited attack upon monopolies, the Idaho Senator stuck with the organization. During the days of Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover, he was a rampant critic between elections but helped carry the freight during the campaign. In fact, many attribute Mr. Hoover's success to the Senator's work in the West, where he paid particularly attention to the farmes problems.

In his latest blast, the Idahoan insists that the "world has passed by the Old Guard" which depends be the Old Guard" which depends on "organization, on machine pow-er, on manipulations," but can draw out "nothing more than some faded epithets and ancient phras-es about radical, irregular, unsafe" to answer the problems of millions of citizens who are "being tortured day and night with an economic con-dition which is far from being over."

Mr. Borah believes that the Constitution affords ample powers to deal with our problems but, attack-ing the Ild Guard, declares, "Those ing the Ild Guard, declares, "Those who once were in a position to exercise these powers refused to act." He insists that they formed monopolies to get control of our entire maternal wealth and to fix the prices which the people should pay. In reference to bureaus and expenditures, he points out that "they created bureaus without precedent." In the end, he insists that the Old Guard has little to offer "except repentance and on one would acrepentance and on one cept their professions."
