

To Join Checks In Mail In Social Whirl

Former King's Wardrobe Arrives From London; Aids in Holiday Tasks

Enzesfeld, Austria, Dec. 21.—The way was opened tonight for Edward, Duke of Windsor, to participate more actively in Austria's social life for the ex-king's wardrobe arrived from London. When the resigned British monarch's chauffeur drove up to the castle of Baron Eugene de Rothschild, in a car piled high with luggage, the word flew among residents of this village: "The royal shirts have arrived!" The Duke had been obliged, until today, to order linen from Vienna because he left England without packing most of his wearing apparel. The arrival of the carload of clothing was taken as an indication he intended to remain for some time in the castle to which he came after he quit the British throne for love of Wallis Warfield Simpson, and that he planned more extensive social activities, perhaps making excursions from the chateau soon. (At the villa at Cannes, France, where Mrs. Simpson is staying, an authorized spokesman said she would not see her fiance until the spring. Her divorce from Ernest Aldrich Simpson is scheduled to become final April 27.) A visitor to the estate said Windsor held his hostess, the Baroness de Rothschild, in arranging Christmas decorations, standing on a step-ladder. He now calls her "Kitty" and she calls him "Eddie," since last night when they pledged everlasting friendship to each other. The Duke also played golf today, losing many balls in the thick fog which hung over the estate, but getting the exercise which now is a part of his daily routine. Baron de Rothschild planned a merry observance of Christmas, with the probability increasing that among the guests would be Queen Marie of Rumania—a second cousin of Edward—and her daughter and son-in-law Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton of Hapsburg. Queen Marie, arriving in Bucharest today, said she "supposed" she would meet Windsor. The mystery of who dropped flags from an airplane on the castle grounds was cleared up with the statement of Julius Arigi, Austrian World War ace, that he did it "as a token of a soldier's affection for this sympathetic former ruler." Police dissuaded him from dropping a wreath, he said, because it might have hit Windsor.

School Paper Praises Supt.

Rounds Out 25 Years Of Service In City—Schools Enjoy Tremendous Growth

Hailed in the high school Blackbird with a front-page picture and tribute, Superintendent E. M. Wilson reaches his twenty-fifth year of service to Rocky Mount city schools. His contribution to the progress of education in Rocky Mount began when he came to the city in 1911 as principal of the high school and mathematics teacher. Besides teaching, which he has called the most enjoyable part of his work, he was coach of the high school's teams. Under his coaching in 1924 the high school baseball team took the eastern championship for the only time in its history. The one building which housed Rocky Mount's schools when Wilson began teaching here has expanded into 12 public schools representing an investment of barely less than a million dollars, with 141 teachers and 6,000 students. When in 1914 the high school principal and mathematics teacher became superintendent of the city schools, 35 teachers taught in three schools for white children and a faculty of 10 taught in one colored school. Superintendent Wilson went thru high school in Goldsboro, where he was born, and from there went to Chapel Hill to take a degree in higher learning. Now Wilson is president of the Kiwanis club and secretary of the school board, besides being superintendent of the city schools. He is past president of the northeastern district of the state teachers association. The New England shilling was the first coin issued in this country by American colonists. Distributed in defiance of royal British decrees, it was highly popular as a gesture of independence.

Checks In Mail For Ministers

Methodist Superannuates In State Get Duke Endowment Gifts

Durham, Dec. 21.—In behalf of the Duke Endowment, Duke University today mailed 271 Christmas checks totaling $19,000 to superannuated Methodist ministers of North Carolina or their widows. President W. P. Few of Duke University sent greetings to each recipient, reminding them of the purposes of James B. Duke, "who made possible these Christmas checks and who both lived and died in the beautiful hope to do some permanent good upon this earth." James B. Duke for a number of years before establishing the endowment in 1924 was accustomed to send Christmas checks to the aged ministers of the Methodist church, and provided through the endowment to continue the practice. One hundred and 21 checks were sent to aged ministers of the North Carolina Conference, and 150 were distributed in the Western North Carolina Conference. Each conference's share was $1,500. The amount of each check was in proportion to the amount allowed the claimant by the board of finances of each conference.

Crash Kills Boy Five In Hospital

One Victim May Face Charges If He Recovers After Tarboro Tragedy

Tarboro, Dec. 19.—Of six persons injured when two automobiles collided at a highway junction near here Friday night, one was dead today and five others remained in a local hospital, three of them in a serious condition. Luther Hyde, 19-year-old Leggett High School senior, died last night of a fractured skull and was buried this afternoon. Hospital attaches said the conditions of Mrs. Lynwood Sparrow of Manteo, 25-year-old expectant mother; Elisha Abrams, 22, of Pitt County, and his father, Cooper Abrams, 48, were critical. All three sustained skull fractures. Mrs. Sparrow was seriously hurt but still confined to the hospital where Lynwood Sparrow, 25, Manteo School principal, and Mrs. Alonza Sparrow, 30, of Washington, N. C., his cousin by marriage, both of whom received head lacerations. Manslaughter Charge State Highway Patrolman Otley Leary who investigated the accident said Cooper Abrams, alleged driver of the car in which his son and Hyde were riding, would be charged with manslaughter if he recovers. The patrolman said Cooper was at fault for entering a main highway without giving the other machine, which Sparrow was driving, the right of way. Funeral at Tarboro Funeral services for Hyde were held this afternoon from a local funeral home with burial following in the family cemetery near Lawrence. The Rev. L. P. Spencer, rector of Grace Episcopal Chapel at Lawrence, officiated.

Duke Power Case Back To Courts

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The Supreme Court has sent the Duke Power case back to the lower court, to be tried over again if the Duke interests care to reopen the plea. The only decision, which the Supreme Court made in this case is the decision that the case was mishandled in the District Court where it was tried and in the Circuit Court to which it was appealed. The Duke power interests asked an injunction to restrain the PWA from loaning money for a power plant to Greenwood County, South Carolina. The injunction was denied. For that reason, some news agencies jumped at the conclusion that the finding of the Supreme Court was against the government. This is not the case. The Supreme Court did not pass on the issues. It merely said they had not been properly presented and handled in the lower courts. But the action does delay the construction of 52 power plants for which PWA loans have been made.

AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 21.—For nearly an hour today, President Roosevelt and his defeated republican rival for the presidency—Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas—chatted in the white house about Christmas and children. Telling reporters about his visit, the governor said "the president talked about his grandchildren and I talked about mine, but not my grand children." Landon who is here for the Gridiron club dinner tonight, shook his head and said "no" when asked whether politics, the campaign, relief, the drought or other subjects had been discussed. "The president," the governor volunteered, "told me a good deal about his South American trip and I told him about my fishing trip to Florida."

Says Trade With Mexico Growing

Ambassador Daniels Optimistic Over Closer Ties To Southern Republic

Washington, Dec. 21.—Ambassador Josephus Daniels, here today painted an optimistic picture of trade conditions between the United States and Mexico, and declared that between the two countries "there had developed, and is still developing a closer economic tie in harmony with a greater friendship." Ambassador Daniels, in Washington to attend the Gridiron Club dinner tonight, issued his statement regarding trade conditions with the country to which he is accredited after luncheon with President Roosevelt at the White House. The ambassador and Mrs. Daniels will leave for their home at Raleigh tomorrow night, remaining there until after the New Year. Mr. Daniels pointed out that exports to Mexico during the first nine months of 1936 exceeded those of the entire year of 1935 by $18,015,545. The United States bought from Mexico $6,465,086 more during the first six months of this year than the entire year of 1935. During the North Carolinian's service in Mexico, five treaties have been signed between the two republics.

Bernstoff Says Arms Means War

Former German Ambassador To United States Deplores Armaments Race

Geneva, Dec. 19.—Count Bernstorff, Germany's war-time ambassador to Washington who now lives in retirement in Geneva, issues a warning in his memoirs recently published that "competition in armaments in course of history has always led to war." Bernstorff's book is creating special interest in international circles because of his outspoken opinions. He says that "enemies of Briand and Stresemann who subsequently triumphed seem to me to have little cause to be proud of what they have accomplished," and adds "while the two big statesmen were in power there were indications that world reconciliation was on the way, while now the sole talk is of security—that is, armaments competition which history shows always leads to war." Bernstorff calls this book his "confession" and says he has been able to write it despite "his age, his ill health, and disgust with politics." Speaking of his war-time ambassadorship in Washington Bernstorff writes that he was at home in society there but these social relations proved worthless during war days because "the so-called four hundred departed in a body into the enemy camp." He says it was Germany's political inadequacy which led her into an abyss "a political inadequacy that flung us helpless at the mercy of an incompetent military dictatorship." He adds: "We can only be saved by political training that will enable the whole German people to see the world as it really is and not as we should like to represent it." Commenting on Germany's attitude during the great war Bernstorff says: "Germany's military position would not have deteriorated had U-boat submarine war never been undertaken." Bernstorff blames submarine warfare as the main cause of Germany's collapse. "The choice of the German government lay between peace of understanding through American mediation and the U-boat warfare, involving war with the United States, which must inevitably bring us defeat," he says. He ascribes President Wilson's personal hostility to Germany during the latter part of the war to Germany's refusal to entertain his peace proposals.

Mrs. Mae Best Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Mae Best, 34, succumbed to a long illness which had her confined in a local hospital. Death was attributed to complications.

Sanatorium Opens Tob. Short Course

New Division Of Hospital Completed After Five Months Of Construction

James Benjamin Herring, Jr., age one day, nine month son of Mr. and Mrs. James Herring of 130 South Grace street, holds the distinction of being the first baby born in the new obstetrical division of the Rocky Mount Sanitarium which was completed after five months of construction. Modern in every detail, the obstetrical branch of the hospital forms a separate wing of the building. Six private rooms, a ward accommodating four beds, a preparation room, nursery, delivery room, doctor's lounging room, supply rooms, and nurses' accommodations comprise the new division. Each room is equipped with the latest hospital facilities and each has separate utensils. The nursery is sound proof and includes an incubator for premature babies. The preparation room is complete with shower bath and scientific regulation of water temperatures. Although all of the obstetrical cases will be handled in the new division, the old delivery room will continue in use as an additional operating room for the hospital. Total mileage of rural mail routes in the United States has increased 34 per cent in the last 25 years. A Poland China sow owned by Dick Cornelius of Fairfax, Okla., gave birth to 19 pigs. All but three lived.

German Seagoing Automobile

The very latest in automobile design, a German seagoing automobile, plunges into the Gruenwald sea for a trial run. It is capable of a speed of 100 kilometers an hour on land, and 20 kilometers an hour in the water.

Merry Christmas

The Rocky Mount Herald wishes for all of its subscribers and friends a happy and prosperous Christmas. We hope for you all good health, plenty of food, and that Santa Claus will make his annual trip through this section, leaving the stockings reasonably filled. From what we have heard and seen, we believe that we can assure the children that this will be the case. There is great peace and joy in store for us all, provided we train our hearts and minds to understand and enjoy the wonderful blessings that are showered upon us everyday. In the enjoyment of Christmas, some feel that they have not enjoyed the fullness of the holiday unless they have done something reckless or foolish, either risking their own lives or jeopardizing the lives of others; if they dance they feel that they must dance all night, and if they eat and drink, they feel they must do this to excess; if they ride, they feel they must ride faster than anybody else—why should this be so? Is it because we fail to catch the true spirit of Christmas? Pleasure never came in excesses, so let us train our hearts and minds to be ready for Noel and have real peace and pleasure. We hope that in the past year our paper has served a useful purpose in leadership, education and in undertaking to acquaint the people with many of the real problems that so vitally concern their welfare. In conclusion, we again say, we wish you a merry and happy Christmas.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENT

There seems to be much writing and much discussion taking place relative to the Governor's recent appointment under the so-called Social Security Act. We do not understand why that should call for more criticism than many other appointments that have taken place. Generally, for the last few years, it has always been the custom of the out-going governor to place his secretary in some position of financial relief. Before Mr. Gill became finally placed, he held four jobs, two of which were created offices. There has been only one newly created office to take care of Mr. Powell, but with a $5000 salary, if he will be economical, we feel that he may be able to get through. In fact, we were not surprised when this appointment was made, because it had been the custom so long, but he had expected probably he would have been placed in some department of the highway or prison set-up, for this has been the place where most of the unemployed have been taken care of. While we are not advocating the sale of liquor in North Carolina, we do insist that if it is to be sold, it should not be centered in Raleigh. If Social Security and poor folks relief is to be controlled by politics, then how can the so-called state control of liquor be anything else but political. For this reason we do insist that since liquor is to be sold, it better be in the control of the county rather than the political control of Raleigh. This is the question that the people themselves should decide and not just a representative from a county.

Sanatorium Opens Tob. Short Course

Obstetrical Wing Offered At College

New Division Of Hospital Completed After Five Months Of Construction

James Benjamin Herring, Jr., age one day, nine month son of Mr. and Mrs. James Herring of 130 South Grace street, holds the distinction of being the first baby born in the new obstetrical division of the Rocky Mount Sanitarium which was completed after five months of construction. Modern in every detail, the obstetrical branch of the hospital forms a separate wing of the building. Six private rooms, a ward accommodating four beds, a preparation room, nursery, delivery room, doctor's lounging room, supply rooms, and nurses' accommodations comprise the new division. Each room is equipped with the latest hospital facilities and each has separate utensils. The nursery is sound proof and includes an incubator for premature babies. The preparation room is complete with shower bath and scientific regulation of water temperatures. Although all of the obstetrical cases will be handled in the new division, the old delivery room will continue in use as an additional operating room for the hospital. Total mileage of rural mail routes in the United States has increased 34 per cent in the last 25 years. A Poland China sow owned by Dick Cornelius of Fairfax, Okla., gave birth to 19 pigs. All but three lived.

Damages Sought In Bus Tragedy

Fifty Thousand Dollar Suit Results From Cumberland Wreck

Fayetteville, Dec. 21.—Fifty thousand dollars damages is asked in a civil suit filed here today for the death of one of the victims of the school bus tragedy in this county December 9. The defendants are J. H. Gibbs, driver of the produce truck which slithered across the road to collide with the school bus, and the Howard Bobbitt Company, owners of the truck. The plaintiff is G. R. Williams, administrator of Vivian Mack Williams, 15-year-old high school boy, who was one of the four students of the Stedman school who met death in the wreck. The complaint charges illegal speed on the part of the truck, careless and reckless operation of the truck, its operation on the left side of the road, sleepy and stupefied condition of the driver and overcrowded condition of the driver's seat. It is contended that Gibbs had been worked by the defendant corporation for long hours on a stretch immediately before the collision and as a result was in such condition as to render him unable to drive with ordinary care, and it is alleged that both defendants are guilty of negligence in this respect. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Thomas W. Ruffin of Raleigh and Nimocks and Nimocks of Fayetteville.

Four Held Today In Nash Tragedy

Bloodstains At Filling Station Lead Officers To Suspect Cone's Murderer

Nashville, Dec. 21.—Bloodstains discovered on the side of a Nash county filling station have turned the hit-and-run death of Preston Cone, found dead on the Middlesex-Bailey highway early Sunday morning, into an apparent murder plot, and today four suspects are lodged in the county jail for complicity in the crime. Cone, 32-year-old resident of the Samaria section of Nash county, was discovered lying on the highway between Bailey and Middlesex last Sunday morning about four o'clock. The body was first seen by W. H. Murphy of Wilson, who reported the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be any made by an automobile. Investigators probed into the case to Police Officer Manning of Middlesex. Manning started an immediate investigation. The body was examined and the victim was found to have sustained a broken leg and head injuries. Investigators reached the conclusion he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday, however, a second examination of the body revealed that the head injuries did not appear to be