Harris, O. G. Barnes, W. L. Woodley, B. Warren, E. E. Edwards, O. D. Fisher, E. S. Bulluck, T. E. Jenkins, Jr., J. F. Avert and T. A. Avert.

at 3:30 o'clock from her home in Warrenton.

Mrs. Graham died at her home after a short illness.

She was the widow of the late John Graham, prominent educator of North Carolina and founder of the John Graham High School in Warrenton. He was one of a long line of educators.

Mrs. Graham was Miss Frankie Daniel of Warren county before her marriage.

She was well known in the city where she had visited her daughter Mrs. Horne. Mrs. Horne was with her mother at the time of her death.

Survivors, other than Mrs. Horne include three other daughters, Miss Alma Graham, of Warrenton, Miss Maria Graham, of Greenville and P. G. Alston, of Texas; one son, Major Will Graham, of Kinston, Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, is a nephew of the deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Horne, their daughter, Mrs. William Atkinson of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Horne, Jr., of Sumter, S. C. attended the funeral.

Rites Held For Mrs Paddison

Prominent Nashville Woman Dies In Local Hospital—Funeral Held

Funeral services were conducted at Nashville for Mrs. E. S. Paddison, outstanding community leader of the Nash county seat, who succumbed in a Rocky Mount hospital. She was 43 years of age.

The rites, under the direction of Rev. W. C. Wilson, pastor of the Nashville Methodist church, and Rev. L. D. Hayman of Beaufort, a former pastor, were conducted from the church at 2:30 o'clock. The body was then taken to Wilson for burial.

Mrs. Paddison's death was attributed to complications resulting from two major operations. She had been in declining health for some time.

For several years, Mrs. Paddison had been an active member of the board of trustees of the North Carolina School for the Deaf and Blind. She also had been active in the work of the Nash County young Democrats and headed the Nashville unit of the Rocky Mount-Nash county chapter of the American Red Cross. Mrs. Paddison long had been influential in civic work.

Mrs. Paddison, the former Miss Minnie Potter, was a native of Washington, North Carolina. Besides her husband, she is survived by two step children, Alfred H. Paddison of Durham and Mrs. Carlton E. Combs of Richmond.

Active pallbearers included the following: L. L. Davenport, W. Pell Batchelor and Dr. P. O. Coppedge of Nashville; and George R. Edwards, Frank P. Spruill and J. P. Bunn of Rocky Mount.

East Wake Fair In Wendell Oct. 4-8

The East Wake Fair which opens in Wendell, Tuesday, October 4th from all indications will be the best fair ever held in Wendell.

Much interest is shown in the display of agriculture and a five-hundred dollar premium list is offered to the exhibitors for their efforts. Six tons of high grade tobacco fertilizer will be given for the best types of tobacco.

Numerous prizes will be given for canned goods, jams, etc. As sweepstakes prize, for the best ten long ears of corn, T. W. Wood and Sons, of Richmond, Va., offer a beautiful silver tray.

In the way of entertainment The Free Act will be the best ever offered. A circus Review in ten acts will be one of the best attractions. The main attraction will be "Lippincott The Magician." This man will escape from a strong box and disappear before your eyes. Other miracles will be performed by him. The Hollowood Comedians will present the Max Sennit Dog from Hollywood in their acts. These men are a scream. The "Jamboree Buddies" will furnish the old time music and a plenty of it every night.

Bob Penny's Carnival will be on midway with everything. Bob has a fine carnival and has played several fairs in North Carolina and Virginia, this year and has been liked by all. His reputation as a showman is good. Bob is brother to the famous Penny brothers.

SUIT FOR MULE'S SHATTERED NERVES

Whoever heard of a mule's nerves being shattered, yet a suit has been started in Cumberland superior court covering just such an occurrence. A suit has been instituted for alleged damages to the nervous system of a mule.

The suit was brought by Mrs. S. E. Kinlaw and Aey Howard against Mrs. Gladys Kean, of New York, as the result of an automobile-wagon collision near Fayetteville.

Damages also were sought for injuries which Mrs. Kinlaw said Howard, her tenant, alleged he suffered in the wreck. The total amount sought is $7,005.

The complaint set forth that Mrs. Kinlaw's mule suffered a deep and severe gash on his side and was unable to work for several weeks.

"Since the wreck" the complaint said, "the mule has been unable to do as much work as formerly, and is sickly, nervous and shy."
