

LAFF IT OFF

MINOR SURGERY A boy, ten, and his sister, eight, were about to have operations; the boy, circumcision, and the girl, tonsillectomy. To save a lot of curious conversation both children were told that they were to have their tonsils out. They were taken to the hospital together and shared the same room. The little boy's operation took place first. When he returned his sister asked if it hurt. "No, it didn't hurt much, sis," he replied "but are you going to be surprised when you find out where your tonsils are?"

I Had a girl
Her name was Nellis,
She fell in the ocean
Up to her knees.
(It doesn't rhyme because it was not deep enough where she fell in)

"Willie, don't you like our maid?"
"Naw, I hate her. I'd like to grab her and bite her neck like Daddy does!"

Man (entering grocery store): "I want to get some shorts for my pigs. How much are they?"
Girl Clerk: "So you're another one of those wisecrackers, huh! I suppose you'll be wanting brassieres for your cows next"

GI Joe: "What's the name of your new girl?"
GI John: "I forget, but it's some thing like Chiffonier."
GI Joe: "But a chiffonier is something with drawers."
GI John: "I guess her name must have been Kelly, then."

A CLOSE CALL In relating close experiences, the following conversation was overheard between Mr. Bob Pender and Mr. J. Levy: Said Mr. Levy - Did I ever tell you about the time I killed a man? Well, I did and I ran to the woods to hide. The cops came right behind me and I was scared stiff - and if I hadn't VAKED UP, they WOULD HAVE LOCKED ME UP.

STOPPED He--Say whatever became of those old-fashioned gals who fainted when a boy kissed them? She--Huh! Whatever became of the old-fashioned boy who made them faint?

And did you hear this one? A soldier in Alaska wrote his brother: "I can't tell you where I am, but yesterday I shot a polar bear." A week later he wrote his brother again: "I can't tell you where I am but last night I slept with an Eskimo." After another week the brother got this letter. "I can't tell you where I am but I wish to hell I'd slept with the polar bear and shot the Eskimo."
