For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. II Timothy 1:12.

This is a great assertion. It is an expression from the heart of one who had lost all doubt and uncertainty. Paul was a man of great words and noble deeds. He had come a long way from being a persecutor of Christians and became a preacher of righteousness. The trials he endured and persecutions he suffered make his statement all the more remarkable. He found the road to certainty and attained a perfect trust in God. How may we find the true faith? Paul gives us the steps in the words above. "I believe, I committed, I know." "I believed." It is the simple truth of the Bible that we are saved by faith. To believe is to trust. As we trust Jesus Christ, we are led to commit our all unto him. To have saving faith is to believe on Jesus Christ so fully that we commit ourselves to him. Our souls, our lives, our hopes are alike entrusted to him. As we commit our all unto His care, we come to know Him. It is a faith that adventures that bring us to the knowledge of God. A faith that issues in obedience is ever on the roadway to knowledge. Jesus said, "If any man is willing to do his will, he shall know." It is wonderful how doubt melts away in the warmth of an effort to do some good in this world. Men have found, over and over again that as they walk the road that God is walking, they meet him and thus become able to say with Paul, "I know." What is your faith? May you give the joyous answer, "I am persuaded that Jesus Christ is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."

EDITOR'S CORNER: We are proud to give you a new super staff member, "G. I. Citizen No. 1", Milton S. Brown. Listen fellows, he has asked that he be permitted to furnish you GIs with pictures for the H.F.N. Well, you guys might look around England, France, Italy, or Asia, but my chips are down that you will never discover the near equal of this man "Coca Cola" Brown. I have seen him in action as a banker, a City Commissioner, a supporter of every known sport unearthed around here, a Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce President, and a contributor to every worthy cause prompted here: but I am yet to see any one out-distance him. Milton Brown now sees an opportunity to make your task lighter, and if pictures will do it, bank on him. And too, THIS IS AT HIS OWN EXPENSE. I say, wherever you are, salute this man Brown - he is out there with you and has been all the time.
